Bruhn Leaves Tolmie Cabinet

Works Minister's Resignation Is Effective To-day

Government Lacks Definite Programme Or General Support, He Says

Fifth to Leave Premier in Month

Hopes to Advocate Stronger Policies to Make Real Union Possible

Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, resigned from the Tolmie Government to-day, giving as his reasons that the ministry was not a real union, and was rendered ineffective by lack of a definite programme or general support.

Mr. Bruhn, the fifth minister to leave the government within a month, asked Premier Tolmie to accept forthwith the resignation which he filed on April 12, but which he left in abeyance since then at the Premier's request. The Vancouver Daily Province says in a special dispatch to-day, Mr. Bruhn said he could no longer delay his resignation since it was now clear that the Premier could not form the Union Ministry which had been promised and expected.

Having committed himself publicly to a real union of all parties, Mr. Bruhn explained that it was quite impossible for him to remain in a ministry of the present character. Instead, he proposed as an independent candidate in Salmon Arm to advocate in the election campaign much stronger policies than the government was prepared to accept, with the hope that out of the election would emerge a real union of men willing to abandon personal advantage for the good of the country.

LETTER TO PREMIER
Mr. Bruhn had little to add to his letter to the Premier, which he said was self-explanatory. This letter ran as follows:
"On April 12, before leaving for Ottawa, I tendered you my resignation from the position of Minister of Public Works in your government, and it is with regret that I now must ask you to accept this forthwith."
"In retiring at this time from your government, I feel I must explain the reasons which impel this action on my part."

YANGTZE RIVER FLOOD EASES

Fall Witnessed; in Kweichow Province 2,000 Persons Drowned

City and Scores of Villages in Mayan Valley Destroyed

Associated Press.
Hankow, China, June 27.—The rapidly changing moods of the Yangtze river favored valley residents and the mighty river recorded a sudden fall of six inches, thereby allaying fears of further destructive floods.
In eastern Kweichow province, however, a cloudburst resulted in the destruction of Tungien, with a great loss of life. Meagre reports said the flood, which supposedly occurred June 20 swept through the Mayan River valley, destroying scores of villages. The loss of life was set at more than 2,000.
The American Evangelical Mission Hospital at Tungien, whose headquarters are in Cleveland, Ohio, was said to have been partly destroyed. The disaster was called the worst in thirty years. Tungien is 400 miles southwest of Hankow, and the Kweichow floods poured into the Yangtze.

He also offered 250 pesos more if he would fight and kill one bull. A provision was that Hutton should wear a bull fighter's costume.

Producers Fully Aware of Responsibilities, States Czar of Films

Clark Gable May Come Over to Island to Fish at Campbell River Shortly

Self-regulation of motion pictures by producers at the time of their production to conform with ordinary standards of decency will render boards of censors unnecessary in a few years, predicted Will H. Hays, head of the Moving Picture Directors' Association of Hollywood, who reached Victoria this afternoon to sail for his California home this evening.

With Mrs. Hays and his son and a party of Hollywood friends, the noted movie chief has been on a vacation trip to the Canadian Rockies. He crossed from Vancouver by the Ss. Princess Marguerite and will sail south this evening by the Ss. H. P. Alexander.
"I don't mean that pictures must be goody-goody," explained Mr. Hays. "They can and must, where advisable, deal intimately and directly with the facts of life, but in such a way as to offend those standards of common decency which are not confined to age or geography."
Hollywood producers, Mr. Hays said, are fully aware of their moral responsibilities. They aim, he stated, to control the output of their studios so that the pictures they make unquestionably and unhesitatingly will be accepted by movie-going public anywhere in the world.

ALL KINDS OF OPTASTES
"We realize it isn't easy," declared the dynamic controller of the United States motion picture industry. "It is hard to make a man who likes his roast (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2).

COUNCIL SHIES AT MILK INQUIRY

Murrayville, B.C., June 27.—"Nothing doing" was the verdict of the Langley municipal council to a suggestion by Reeve Noel Booth that a committee of members of the council and board of trade gather information in connection with milk, and the spread between the producer and the consumer. Reeve Booth thought it would be advisable to learn all there was to be known about the milk situation, so the council and board could co-operate, if necessary, in any move made. Councillor J. W. Mufford and other dairymen shook their heads. It was looking for trouble, they thought.

Case, Pretty played good golf this morning, but had a couple of bad breaks, which cost him valuable holes.

The convention was held this morning in the dining-room of the Dominion Hotel, there being some fifty delegates present, representative of the whole province.

Resignation to-day of Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works in the Tolmie cabinet, was the latest sensation in politics to-day. The fifth minister to leave the ship, Mr. Bruhn insisted his resignation be accepted forthwith.

Col. W. W. Foster, who has agreed to run as a Tolmie candidate for the Islands, is a prospect for Premier Tolmie's selection for Minister of Public Works. He was once deputy minister of the department.

Supporters of Capt. MacGregor Island, the member for the Islands, and one of the Conservatives who broke away from Premier Tolmie, have received a disappointment. J. E. Merryfield, field organizer for the Bowser Non-Partisan Movement, announced that Capt. Macintosh is not an acceptable candidate for his endorsement. A Bowser convention will be held for the Islands on June 29. The captain's supporters hoped there would be no opposition from any Conservative wing.

Instead of the straight Liberal-Conservative fight with Alex. McDonald, the Liberal candidate, as the only other opponent, supporters of the member for the Islands find five certain starters at the tape and more entries probable. Candidates from two Conservative wings will oppose him.

Defeat United States Professionals in Thrilling Climax at Southport, Eng.; Syd Easterbrook Scores Deciding Victory in Singles; Britain Wins 6 1/2 to 5 1/2

Canadian Press.
Southport, England, June 27.—Great Britain regained possession of the Ryder Cup, emblem of Anglo-American professional golf rivalry, to-day, defeating the United States, 6 1/2 points to 5 1/2, in two days' competition. A tremendous gallery of more than 15,000, including the Prince of Wales, watched the matches.
Syd Easterbrook, British pro, scored the deciding victory by defeating Densmore Shute, 1 up, thirty-six holes, as the climax of one of the most exciting international golf battles ever waged, with the outcome in doubt until the last hole of the final match was completed.
The British divided the eight singles matches played to-day, but won the fourtimes yesterday, 2 1/2 to 1 1/2.
CRUISE'S BUTTA
Abe Mitchell crushed Olin Dutra, the United States professional champion, 9 and 8, to score the first singles victory for Britain.
Gene Sarazen, holder of the British open title, defeated Arthur H. Padgen, 8 and 4, with a strong finish. This gave the United States its first singles point.
This made the score: Great Britain 3 1/2, United States 2 1/2, for the two days' play up to that stage.
ON EVEN TERMS
Craig Wood, sharpshooting American, pulled the United States up to even terms for the first time as he defeated Walter Hagen, British veteran, 4 and 3. Walter Hagen, United States captain, put his team into the lead by taking the measure of A. J. Lacey, 3 and 1. This made the score 4 1/2 to 3 1/2 in favor of the United States.

"More than a year ago, as you will no doubt recall, I became convinced that the system of party politics then prevailing was most undesirable in the existing state of the province. I strongly advocated a union of parties to take over the government. Thereafter, I was most gratified when you approved of this plan publicly and announced that you would endeavor to form a Union Government, though I naturally regretted the subsequent delay which you considered necessary in taking this step.

"As you personally declared your self strongly in favor of Union Government, I felt at liberty to advocate this course and did so in many parts of the province. During the last session of the Legislature I committed myself to this programme in the most positive language I could command, believing that although a Union Government under ordinary circumstances may be anything but desirable, it was highly desirable in the circumstances then and still prevailing. I think I made it plain then, however, that such a union must be free and above board and that all parties must be given an opportunity to participate on the most generous terms and on a fully co-operative basis. But I would prefer the maintenance of party lines, with vigorous policy, to a so-called Union which does not bring the parties together and which is rendered ineffective by lack of a definite programme or general support.

"Fearing that this speech had embarrassed you, I immediately offered to resign, if this would be of assistance to you in the formation of such a union government. This you did not accept, and apparently were well satisfied with my statements.

"As you stated publicly that you intended to form a union government as soon as the House rose, I awaited this with satisfaction, not caring particularly whether I was to be a member of the proposed ministry or not. But as weeks passed without any action in this direction, and as I could see very little hope of your being able to form a real union ministry, I tendered my resignation, since it was obvious that I could not remain under those conditions. At your request, however, my resignation was left in abeyance while I went to Ottawa with my former colleague, Mr. McKenzie, to negotiate an agreement on unemployment relief.

"I was in no way insensible of the responsibility which you had placed on me in this connection, and agreed to remain temporarily, at this time, as I assumed that the ministry was about to be reorganized on union party lines. Therefore, I took no part in the matter, still hoping that you would effect a union that would meet with the approval of the people.

"But despite your efforts, which I can assure you I warmly commended, though I can not agree that they have been well advised in all particulars, the union apparently has been given no opportunity to participate on the most generous terms and on a fully co-operative basis. But I would prefer the maintenance of party lines, with vigorous policy, to a so-called Union which does not bring the parties together and which is rendered ineffective by lack of a definite programme or general support.

GEN. LINDSAY, TORONTO, DIES

Widely Known For Work As Engineer With C.E.F. in France

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 27.—Major-General William Lindsay, who was chief engineer of the Canadian Army Corps from 1916 to 1918, was found dead to-day at the Toronto Hunt Club, apparently from heart disease. He was fifty-two years old.

General Lindsay, a native of Stratford, Ont., joined the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in 1901, and was organized, equipped and trained the 1st Canadian Divisional Engineers, with which unit he went to France with the rank of major.

He was said to have taken part in every major Canadian engagement in France from 1916 till the end of the war. He was decorated with the first plunk road built by Canadian engineers in France. His decorations included the Distinguished Service Order. He was mentioned in dispatches five times.

His health forced his retirement in 1920.

Canada-U.S. Wheat Prices Zoom Up

Corn soared almost four cents, oats three cents and rye a little more than four cents.

HOT IN U.S. MIDWEST
St. Paul, Minn., June 27.—Blistering weather throughout the Middle West, which to-day had caused serious small grain loss and severe corn damage, was instrumental in bringing back $1 wheat after a three-year absence.

With little relief promised for to-day, crop damage in western Minnesota is so severe that "threshing machines will not be needed," was forecast by Andrew Boss, Minnesota state agronomist. Wheat prices jumped to $1.14 and $1.02 at Fort Worth, Texas, yesterday, while at Chicago May wheat sold at 99 1/2 cents.

Although light rains fell in parts of Minnesota, Kansas, Oklahoma, Iowa and Texas, the precipitation hardly afforded relief from the heat, the state crop bureau reported.

Damage to corn in Minnesota, previously not serious, was more noticeable Boss said, while that crop in western Oklahoma appeared doomed, and the wheat of the crop in other sections of the state was forecast.

The following day he was scheduled to make another trip out of the city, but failed to appear.

Mitchell is described as fifty years of age, five feet seven inches in height, weighing 140 pounds, with a fair complexion and dark hair. He was wearing light brown plus fours, leather colored stockings and a light colored tweed cap.

BODIES OF TWO FLIERS FOUND

Wreckage of Spanish Transatlantic Plane Discovered in Jungle Lagoon in Mexico

Mexico City, June 27.—The Federal Minister of the Interior yesterday evening announced the bodies of Capt. Mariano Barberan and Lieut. Joaquin Collar, Spanish transatlantic fliers, missing six days on an attempted flight from Havana, and the wreckage of their plane, Cuzco Viento, had been found in a lagoon in the state of Yucatan.

A tug left to take the bodies to Puerto Mexico.

Further information came from R. Vazquez Cerdas, chief of immigration at Puerto Mexico, who said: "Airplane Cuzco Viento found wrecked in a lagoon. Barberan and Collar, state of Yucatan, pilots dead. They will be brought to Puerto Mexico aboard tugboat Coloso, which is leaving at 8 a.m. tomorrow."

The aviators, who recently flew across the Atlantic from Seville, Spain, to Camaguey, Cuba, took off early last morning from the Cuban capital for this city.

The wreckage and the bodies, the reports said, were found in the jungle. Several miles from a place known as Alacran, approximately 130 miles west of Camaguey, where the plane was reported about 10 a.m. last Tuesday.

TWO DROWN IN CARIBOO LAKE

Williams Lake, B.C., June 27.—Alec Marshall, thirty, and Edmund Hutton, twenty-three, of Alexis Creek, were drowned in Puntel Lake, twenty miles north of Williams Lake, when a seaplane, eighty-five miles southwest of here, they perished when thrown from a sailboat that upset in a sudden squall. The bodies of the two men were drifted ashore after being seven hours in the water.

Provincial Police Officers Dan Weir and J. H. Hutton, were preparing to drag the lake for the bodies with equipment from here.

Puntel Lake is about eight miles long and three miles wide. It is situated at the time, owing to the heavy storm it was unable to render assistance.

HEAT WAVE ON PLAINS BROKEN

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, June 27.—Torrid temperatures which gripped the prairies in a record-breaking June heat wave have abated to-day as farmers and stockmen looked anxiously to the sky for much needed moisture to offset the ravages of heat. It was comparatively cool in Alberta, but moderately warm in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Good rains within the next few days would materially help parched crops.

Scattered showers fell throughout Manitoba yesterday evening and early to-day.

Varying amounts of damage from heat and lack of sub-sol-moisture are reported from Saskatchewan. Numerous rains would greatly improve the outlook in the western and southwestern portions of the province, and stockmen fairly heavy rains were reported over

ROTARY'S GAINS ARE REPORTED

Hundred New Clubs Listed in Year Despite Depression Throughout World

Boston, Mass., June 27.—The accomplishments of Rotary as a great, worldwide organization, setting an example of fellowship, understanding and good-will in community life, in vocations and in international relations, were described by the Rotary International officers at the opening of the twenty-fourth annual convention here yesterday.

Clinton P. Anderson of Albuquerque, New Mexico, president, related the results of his survey of visits with members of nearly 1,400 Rotary clubs in North America and Europe, during the course of his official travels in the last year, while 100 new Rotary clubs had been elected to membership, making a total of almost 3,600 Rotary clubs, he said.

NEW VALUES

The report of Secretary Cheesley R. Perry, who has been secretary since the first association of Rotary clubs was formed in 1910, described in further detail the activity of the organization during the last year. In part his report was:

"The revolutionary upheavals with which the world has had to contend in these present days has resulted in a new standard of values. A marked emphasis has been placed on the intangibles of life.

Individual and social happiness have been brought about in increasing measure through the application of the ideal of service by a constantly enlarging number of the world's population. It is for times such as these that Rotary was born.

"A remarkable thing about Rotary is that it has not been an endowed movement. Nobody has contributed millions or even thousands of dollars toward its development. Its funds have all been provided by a small annual contribution from each individual Rotarian."

CITY TREASURER BEFORE COURT

North Vancouver, June 27.—Hearing of the charge of theft against Henry R. Straw, suspended city treasurer, opened in police court to-day. Gordon Sloan appeared as counsel for the accused and R. R. McDougall for the city.

Straw is charged with the theft of $1,518 from the city in the period from January 1, 1932, to February 27, 1933.

Rain and Temperature Drop Aid Grain Crop

Ottawa, June 27.—At least temporary relief from drought, was provided over wide areas in the prairie provinces by rains during the last week. This was rendered more effective by the moderate temperatures, according to the weekly telegraphic crop report issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The serious dangers from grasshoppers is emphasized.

Arthur Havers, former British open champion, defeated Leo Diegel, 4 and 3, to make the team score all even again.

Percy Alliss put the British back into the lead with a 2 and 1 victory over Paul Runyan, youthful American, in one of the day's hardest fought and most brilliant matches.

MORE CATTLE MAY BE SOLD

Canadians Hope to Ship to Wales; Coal in Return

By THOMAS T. CHAMBERLAIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 27.—Development of trade between Canada and South Wales whereby Canadian cattle would be sold in return for purchases of Welsh coal was discussed at a conference at Cardiff yesterday, it was revealed to-day. Farming and trade and transport interests met, representatives of Canadian cattle owners.

Canada hitherto has sent cattle to Glasgow and Birkenhead, but also proposes to use South Wales ports. The South Wales Industrial Council, however, expects Canada reciprocally to buy more Welsh coal. A shipment of 500 Canadian cattle will be landed this week, as an experiment in quick distribution through the west of England.

A representative of the South Wales farmers told the conference that cattle would be sold in the hands of the banks and unable to sell their own cattle output. There was some market for calves for baby beef, however, it was learned.

Political Paragraphs

"The historic Tory Party is split," continues Mr. Barnard, and then takes a fling at his one-time opponent, and at Hon. W. Middleton Dennies, the new Minister of Labor.

"Dr. Tolmie is 'Half Fellow Well Met.' A very nice man, and he certainly does not use much horse sense in many of his political activities, climaxing them in the recent appointment of Mr. Middleton Dennies to cabinet position supposedly to represent union labor," says Mr. Barnard.

Mr. Barnard's appointment will carry into the election, Mr. Barnard thinks, the bitter enmity that exists between the American names on the list and the smaller unions, which Mr. Dennies represents.

Mr. Barnard regards W. J. Bowser as a "damp squib." He believes T. D. Patullo's intentions are good but finds it difficult to dissociate him from the record of the Liberal Government of 1928.

"Speaking personally and relatively capable, Mr. Bowser is not so much the writer Mr. Barnard says. 'We have abundance of the elementary needs of life, with a few extras thrown in. But at that we have nothing on the table, not be available as a minimum, to every person willing to work.'"

Speakers for the 'Saatchi Conservative Association, associated with the Unionist Party of British Columbia' have been announced. Premier Tolmie, Hon. W. Middleton Dennies, Minister of Labor, and C. H. Dickie, federal member for Nanaimo, will open the floodgates of their eloquence on the holiday makers.

A delegation of young people in Vancouver who have been organizing to persuade young men and women to take a greater interest in political affairs received every encouragement from Premier Tolmie.

The Premier suggested to the young people that they join an organization and take an active interest in the political life of the province. He suggested that they attend nominating conventions and, if possible, allow their names to be placed in nomination.

His first vacation in years and one of the few occasions in which he has been out of the city, Mr. Hays said his trip through western Canada and the Canadian Rockies had been a revelation.

"My friends in Hollywood made me promise to go away for a month and take a rest. I got lonesome for the studios the first day, but I forgot all about Hollywood when I saw the great Lake Louise," he said. "I hope to see something of Victoria during my few hours here. I have heard of the city in Hollywood."

CLARK GABLE VISITING
Mr. Hays was the second Hollywood personage to visit British Columbia in the past couple of days. Clark Gable, glamorous leading man, is a guest with Mrs. Gable and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Egan, of the films, at the Hotel Vancouver, where he is trying to make up his mind whether to ride horses around the mountain trails at Banff or cross over to Campbell River on this island to indulge in an equally favorite sport, fishing for big tyes.

CALGARY JURY

LIST 120 MEN

Charges of Unlawful Assembly to Be Heard

Calgary, June 27.—One hundred and twenty men have been called for jury duty in the trial of fourteen men charged with unlawful assembly on Monday, April 25. An unusual feature of the case is that Inspector Carruthers, shot and killed by an unknown gunman in the early morning of June 13, was in charge of the police who were called to the scene of the disturbance at Mission Hill. He was one of the principal witnesses at the preliminary hearing. It is anticipated that his evidence, given at the preliminary hearing, will be read.

The disturbance at Mission Hill, it is alleged, took place when groups of men, apparently seeking to induce other men to abandon their work in protest against the then relief allowance reductions, approached from various directions. A disturbance followed in which blows were exchanged. The fourteen accused are alleged to have been present and to have taken part in the assembly, which was construed by police to have been unlawful.

Canadian Press
Montreal, June 27.—The Montreal Corn Exchange has been informed by the Board of Grain Commissioners that tenders will be received July 10 for the lease of the government terminal elevator at Prince Rupert, B.C. The tender may be for one, two or three years.

A communication signed by J. Rayner, grain commission secretary, stated a meeting would be held in Winnipeg July 11 to consider maximum tariffs and shrinking rates, and to listen to other submissions in connection with country elevators, the elevators at Port Arthur and Fort William, and the interior terminal elevators.

FARMER KILLED BY HIS BULL

Body Dragged For Hours By Wild Animal in Fraser Valley Field

Port Haney, B.C. June 27.—William J. Coward was killed and the body apparently was dragged around a pasture for a full day by an infuriated bull which had to be shot to get the mangled body clear from a chain which entangled it.

Coward, a bachelor living alone on his farm on Wilson Road, Yennadon, was last seen alive yesterday morning when taking the bull, a 1,800-pound Holstein, to pasture. A neighbor, George Ralph, discovered the tragedy in the evening when he saw the animal tearing around, dragging some object behind on a chain which was fastened to its nose. Investigation revealed the body of Mr. Coward, all the clothing torn off, except the boots, was lying in the middle of the moving animal difficult and ten shots were fired before it was killed.

The pasture had been torn up like a hog pen in the bull's efforts to rid itself of the body.

JUSTICE IN BRITISH AND RUSSIAN COURTS

By LIONEL WESTOVER

In the last issue of The Victoria Times magazine section there appeared an article entitled, "Justice—London Barister Compares British and Russian Courts," and the extreme informality of Russian courts is described with evident approval.

Further experience with the "courts" of Russia will no doubt show that they are even worse than the informal courts of some parts of the American middle west, and if Mr. Pritt had had experience with such courts in the west, it is hardly likely that he would have drawn what are in fact superficial and (particularly to the layman) misleading comparisons.

When the pioneers settled the American middle west they adopted the common law and equity jurisprudence of England, which had proven such a priceless heritage in the eastern states of America, of course, so far as such law was applicable to their situation and not incompatible with the federal constitution (which also is read in the light of English law as Chief Justice Taft reiterated in an early dissenting opinion). They were not to lay out court rooms in a form somewhat architecturally suggestive of those in the east and in England, but gave and other features of court architecture were dispensed with as superfluous. There was, in fact, a degree of informality almost equal to what Mr. Pritt describes in Russia, with this difference, the judges were administering the fairest and finest law for human beings the world has developed; the common law and equity of England, and they were men of high character and of high standing in the law, and with that dignity which such training incidentally produces.

These pioneer courts, so informal in appearance, gave in the early days wide satisfaction due to the kind of law, to the high character of the judges, and the independence and learning of the bar. Then came overflowing prosperity; the old judges gradually died or retired; and lawyers became so engrossed and so wealthy in connection with the huge business enterprises which arose on every side, that they had neither the time nor inclination to go on the bench.

The judges' pay was absurdly small compared with the large fortunes now on every hand; the courts were without any of the emblems of the judge's or barrister's calling, and the prestige of the old-fashioned judges who had in times of simplicity won respect by sheer force of character and learning had become only a fading memory. An inferior type of men felt quite competent and safe to elevate themselves to the bench, and this was easily accomplished under the elective system. The result was inevitable. The rich layman and the rich lawyer took little trouble to conceal their contempt for a subservient bench, and the courts became a by-word. In the words of Chief Justice Hughes: "The spectacle of a weak and incompetent judge in action (or in inaction) does more to undermine public confidence than abuse of the institution by hostile critics."

The judge while on the bench represents to the extent of his jurisdiction, the sovereign power, the power of the King and parliament or the people (not the common people, but the people). But in the informal courtrooms to which reference is made there were few reminders of the judicial status to help keep up the drooping spirits of poorly-paid men who had never been able lawyers in any sense of the word.

Were not law and the administration of justice, just another business, like everything else? This was viewed as that which covered and maintained the life of the community. That this is realized by leading lawyers in the richest of countries, is shown by a recent statement from President Crump of the California State Bar: "The law—unlike trades and businesses—is not primarily a money-making vocation. To make it so is to destroy its usefulness, and in the end to undermine the structure of government." (State Bar Journal for May 1933) a fact which has been recognized from the earliest days of the English common law.

Those who read the many law magazines and legal periodicals published in the United States know that for the last decade unusually strenuous efforts have been made to increase the prestige of the courts in the middle west and to counteract ignorant criticism (whether proceeding from uninformed laymen or a very few radical attorneys) of the courts elsewhere. Incidentally, gowns are again being used in the courts. Robes have been worn in the U.S. Supreme Court (the keystone of the Republic, as Washington called it) from the earliest days, and in many Federal Courts, notwithstanding some contrary notions expressed by Jefferson. As to the wig: One early chief justice, after trying on the full-bottomed wig, threw it into the waste basket, as too hot, and never tried it again.

In short, what Mr. Pritt thinks so novel and attractive in Russian "courts" was long ago tried out in the American middle west, and after the passing of pioneer days, with the worst of results, and strong efforts had to be made to return to a reasonable amount of formality and dignity in keeping with the administration of justice.

It is also remarkable that Mr. Pritt appears to consider that the judges in England labor under "grave handicaps"—lack of direct contact with the life of the everyday man. It would be interesting to know just what sort of "contacts" Mr. Pritt could devise for them. The fact is that the vast majority of trained and disinterested observers (whether American or English) who have carefully made comparative studies of the English bench have noticed no such handicaps; on the contrary, they praise the practical workings of the English bench without stint, and hold it up as a model.

All English judges, whether working in any other profession or occupation, and which renders them prominently qualified for judicial work. There isn't space to go into the subject in detail, but I would like to point out that a lengthy, comprehensive and practical study of the grand science of English common law and equity jurisprudence, dealing as it does with the maintenance of human rights and the remedy for human wrongs, and from the earliest time right up to-date, is in itself the best possible education in order to appreciate and sympathize with the rights of man and every kind of human problem.

The unlettered and unpolished patrons of 1215 showed in "Magna Carta" that they had more heart in them, more sense of justice and infinitely more appreciation of the rights of humanity, than all the Bolshevik leaders put together, have shown. Lawyers and judges are almost the only ones, who have a really comprehensive understanding of the great Charter and its ever modern vital significance, as well as similar later provisions.

It is a pity that there is not some one volume, really modern, edition of Blackstone's Commentaries so that the present-day layman could readily appreciate just what the laws of England have done and are doing for the Rights of Man. Russia may, and probably will, some day reach up to this high level of freedom, after they have disposed of their present tyrants and re-modelled the State along western lines. It would be sheer madness for us, merely bilious from too rich diets, to throw away our hard-won birthright of liberty under law and plunge into the Soviet hell from which the Russian people will soon be trying to escape if they are not already endeavoring to do so.

It is true that Mr. Pritt does not openly advocate Bolshevism for the English-speaking people, but his admiration for the Russian tribunals would, if followed out in any degree, tend to degrade our courts, render them weak and unable to protect the lives, the liberties and property of free men from powerful and evil-disposed persons and cliques, whether masquerading as billionaires, bolsheviks or otherwise.

PUBLICITY FOR HOARDERS

Washington, June 27 (Associated Press).—Names of gold hoarders who refuse to return the metal in compliance with President Roosevelt's order soon will be published by the Department of Justice. On June 24, 182 persons holding $1,141,819 of gold had defied the government by refusing to return it. It is this list the government plans to publish.

OWNER OF DOG OUTWITS THIEF

Associated Press

Liberty, Mo. June 27.—Pence Burke's five-year-old pointer dog, Dick, has lost credit rating at the corner grocery. Burke used to write an order for dog meat, place it in a sack and send Dick to the store with it. The order would be filled, Dick would seize the sack and return with his meal.

However, a villain, unidentified, learned of the trips and stopped the unsuspecting dog one day. He added butter, lard and other items to the order. The grocer filled that, too, as Burke's Dick, heavily laden, did not object to being halted again and relieved of part of the load on his way home.

Burke learned of it when he got a dog meat bill for $1.85 in place of the customary 35 or 40 cents. Now when Dick goes to the store he carries a nickel in the sack.

GENEVA SCENE OF LABOR DEBATES

Canadian Press

Geneva, June 27.—Canada, ranking fifth among the exporting nations of the world, is naturally deeply interested in every international effort to keep the world back on the road to recovery, stressed Dr. W. A. Riddell, Canadian delegate to the League, addressing the International Labor Conference here yesterday.

The Canadian delegation at the World Conference, Dr. Riddell pointed out, felt that at least all the great creditor countries must reach some form of de facto stabilization of exchange rates. He also expressed the hope the London Conference would be able to do something to establish control over the production of wheat and bring about a reduction in stocks.

Regarding the question of shorter working hours, Dr. Riddell said much had been heard during the last six months about reduction of hours of work, in order to relieve unemployment. In Canada employers and workers were co-operating in an effort to distribute available work among as many workers as possible, he assured the meeting.

NEW DAIRY TRADE RULES IN THE U.S.

Associated Press

Washington, June 27.—Representatives of the dairy industry, which produces about one-fourth of the United States farm income, yesterday evening voted to ask Secretary Wallace of the Agriculture Department to employ his drastic licensing power to enforce dairy trade agreements.

Their decision came soon after representatives of butter manufacturers and distributors had submitted a proposed trade agreement calling for the fixing of minimum weekly prices of butter by a council of ten members in the major markets.

Southwest Africa Feels Heavy Slump

Associated Press

Geneva, June 27.—A break in the diamond market has disastrously affected the former German colony of Southwest Africa, now mandated to the Union of South Africa, the mandates commission of the League of Nations was told yesterday.

The export of diamonds, the principal industry, has fallen to less than one-tenth of the 1930 total. A representative of the Union said the financial and economic situation of the territory was generally critical and was aggravated by drought and plague.

ELECTION SHOULD BE HELD AT ONCE

While parties and candidates are the most spectacular factors in the political situation in this province, the element which is most intimately affected by what is taking place, or is likely to take place, is the general public, which pays the bill. Public interest is many times more important than political interest, and it ought to be borne in mind that the primary purpose which should be served in all electoral changes is the public welfare.

For this obvious reason it is vital that the political situation should be cleared up by an early general election. This is the only way in which it is possible to have stable, orderly, resolute administration of the public business, as opposed to the haphazard direction which necessarily must follow the pressing exigencies of a government whose supporters are deserting it en masse.

We are now advised that this election will not be held until next October or November, although as long ago as last fall the Premier declared that our conditions were so emergent that his party could not deal with them. Surely the public, whose interest is most at stake, should have the opportunity of deciding what kind of government it should have, before then.

The government is injuring the province by refusing to face the electorate at a time when every provincial interest requires that our chaotic political condition should be cleared up. And it certainly is injuring its own political prospects by clinging to office until after the five-year term set by the constitution for the Legislature has expired.

MR. BENNETT SAYS FAILURE OF CONFERENCE UNTHINKABLE

"After participating in the deliberation of the conference for the past two weeks, it is still unthinkable that delegates from practically every nation of the whole world will separate without agreeing upon the means that must be taken to effect the common purpose—the restoration of the prosperity of the world and the saving of our dearly-bought civilization from destruction."—Premier Bennett, speaking over the radio from London on Sunday.

In the opinion of Canada's Prime Minister, who is also the leader of this country's delegation to the World Economic Conference, there are four main problems which must be solved if any permanent improvement in world conditions is to be secured. He lists them as follows: 1. The general level of wholesale prices must be raised. 2. Exchange must be stabilized. 3. Some international monetary standard must be established as soon as possible. 4. The channels of international trade must be cleared.

Much has been written about how the level of wholesale prices can be raised, what artificial means ought to be employed. We have been told that as soon as this problem has been solved, other problems will become less formidable. It is an intricate question in all its implications. The average individual understands it best, however, when he considers that every time the price of wheat goes up even one cent a bushel he gets the indirect benefit of greater rural purchasing power which follows any improvement in the lot of the farmer. The wage-earner, on the other hand, naturally wonders if, as the prices of commodities increase, his purchasing power—his pay cheque—will keep pace with the higher cost of living. The one obviously should follow the other.

Mr. Bennett's second problem, the stabilization of exchange, necessary as it is if an important stumbling-block to international trade is to be removed, so far has proved a very thorny one. The United States is not inclined to stabilize the dollar with the pound sterling and the franc. Great Britain does not seem to be at all disposed to stabilize the pound with other European currencies—as she is being pressed to do—while the United States suspends action. France, of course, still insists that it is imperative the pound sterling, the dollar and the franc be stabilized. This was her first proposal; but when it failed she organized a Continental European bloc for a drive on the pound. Britain is not impressed with the plan and this is how the matter stands at present. Mr. Bennett's third problem is closely related to the second.

When the Canadian Premier says "the channels of international trade must be cleared," he strikes a note which jars nobody. All the delegates who have spoken on the subject of the tariff seem to be fully alive to the fact that a large part of the world's economic ills have been caused by the stranglehold of high protection—economic nationalism gone mad. They agree there must be an end of it.

At this stage of the conference it would be foolish to attempt any prediction of its outcome. We can all hope with Mr. Bennett that "it is still unthinkable that delegates from practically every nation of the whole world will separate without agreeing upon the means that must be taken to effect the common purpose—the restoration of the prosperity of the world and the saving of our dearly-bought civilization from destruction."

AUSTRIA'S "LITTLE NAPOLEON" FIGHTS THE NAZIS

Although Chancellor Hitler seems to have succeeded in subduing for the time being all those elements in Germany which are either actively or passively opposed to his policy, Nazi intrigue in Austria evidently is failing miserably in the face of the determination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss to prevent at all costs Hitler influence gaining ground in his country.

Dollfuss is called the smallest semi-dictator in Europe; but if he considers the power he wields in Austria is insufficient to thwart what is suggested may be an attempt on the part of Hitler to annex the country to the German Reich, it is probable he will ask the assistance of the great powers. In an interview with foreign newspaper correspondents in London recently the Austrian Chancellor said:

The danger of the present situation in Austria is one which affects not only Austria but the peace of all Europe. What I have to contend with is the possibility of an uncontrolled invasion into Austria by the German Nazis. I am determined to take all measures at my command to prevent such a situation, and I have good ground for believing that I have the sympathy of other countries, both of governments and of public opinion.

An independent Austria is the best safeguard for peace in Europe.

Commenting on the hopes and aspirations of the German Nazis as far as Austria is concerned, the Berlin correspondent of The New York Sun says, unfortunately for their calculations, they found themselves opposed not only by a majority of the Austrians in their attempt to "Nazify" Austria but also Premier Mussolini. Behind the Italian Premier, the Sun correspondent goes on, "invisible but chuckling audibly, are France and the Little Entente." Thanks to the moral, political, and financial backing of Mussolini, it is said, Dollfuss has felt strong enough to treat the Austrian Nazis almost with the same nonchalance as the Nazis in Germany have treated the Communists, Socialists, Democrats, Liberals, and even Catholics.

What seems to have aroused the Austrians and particularly the Austrian press was the discovery that Herr Theodor Habicht, a Nazi member of the German Reichstag, had been appointed by Chancellor Hitler as "Nazi" inspector for Austria. With about 300 Nazi leaders, Chancellor Dollfuss had him arrested, and by way of reprisal, the Germans arrested Dr. Erwin Wasseraeck, duly accredited press attaché of the Austrian legation at Berlin and ordered him to leave Germany. Wasseraeck, by the way, is a Catholic priest. On the situation generally and Habicht's activities especially, The Neues Wiener Tageblatt observes:

The tension has regrettably sharpened the normal relations which are desirable and mutually advantageous, but a revival of neighborliness is impossible as long as Berlin thinks she can impose wild-west methods throughout Austria. Berlin must abandon the fiction that Austria can be treated as conquered enemy territory.

If Berlin does not realize that Austria is an independent state, she risks the danger of a conflict.

Habicht's activities are comparable to the Austrian government party sending an emissary into Germany to agitate internally to the Nazi government. Imagine what Germany would do even if the emissary were clothed in a hundred times over in the costume of a press attaché.

It will be recalled that one of the settlements of the Peace Treaty was that no political union between Germany and Austria would be allowed. A year or so ago, however, the two countries entered into a customs union, after spirited opposition from France and a more or less hostile reception by other powers, was abandoned. It was regarded as the first step towards political union and, as such, in conflict with the specific treaty provision.

Therefore, the evident cordial relations which existed between Austria and Germany a year or so ago, irrespective of how much they meant politically, now have been completely destroyed and replaced by open hostility through the Hitler policy. And there is something ironical in the fact that Austria is the German Chancellor's native land; but it has turned its back on its own son.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

ROYAL LONGEVITY
 The Brandon Sun

The London Daily Mail says that Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, the eldest of the three surviving children of Queen Victoria, was eighty-five on March 12. It is sixty-two years since her marriage to John Campbell, Marquis of Lorne. No King or Queen of England has ever reached the age of the Duchess, or her one surviving brother, the Duke of Connaught, now eighty-two. The oldest English sovereign was her mother, Queen Victoria, aged eighty-one years and 243 days, and the oldest King was her grandfather, George III, aged eighty-one years, 258 days. No others were octogenarians, and from Egbert down to George II, who was seventy-seven, there was not a single septuagenarian king for over 900 years. But exile seems to have been more conducive to longevity than the responsibilities of sovereignty. "James the Third," the old Pretender, was seventy-eight, and his second son, "Henry the Ninth," who became a cardinal bishop instead of a king, died on July 12, 1807, aged eighty-two years and 129 days.

THE GASOLINE TAXES
 The Brockville Recorder

One of the largest Canadian oil concerns produces statistics relating to the gasoline taxes imposed throughout the Dominion indicating that, in spite of a reduced consumption of gasoline last year, the proceeds of this taxation actually exceeded those in 1931 by more than $5,000,000. The figures for the two years, province for province, are as follows:

	Gasoline Tax Revenue
Prince Edward Island	$12,867
Nova Scotia	$78,092
New Brunswick	$96,481
Quebec	$4,405,160
Ontario	$10,810,914
Manitoba	$1,094,700
Saskatchewan	$1,310,147
Alberta	$1,472,068
British Columbia	$1,765,700
Total for Canada	$22,546,119

In other words, notwithstanding the smaller consumption of gasoline last year because of a decline in the number of registered motor vehicles, the different provincial governments through elevation of the rate of gasoline taxation, collected over $5,000,000 more from the motorists of the Dominion than they did in 1931. There were 84,976 motor vehicles in use in Canada in 1932 than there were in 1931, yet the various provincial governments received a much enlarged revenue from the gasoline taxes, not to mention other fees and taxes which are paid by the motoring public.

A THOUGHT

Loose Ends

Irony in high places—gold by the roadside, but no one pays any attention to it—and thistles, too, growing prodigiously—and other things of no importance—which one thinks of in my condition.

By H. E. W.

IRONY

There is a rather fine irony in the present economic policy of the United States which, like all important things, is generally overlooked. The policy of the United States Government is that the re-establishment of internal property in the republic comes first, and if plans for its re-establishment don't fit in with the plans of other nations, then it is just too bad for them—a most natural policy, the same policy which every other nation is following, to the general ruin of everybody.

Well, the people in the United States who are urging this rapid economic nationalism are the same people, largely, who are opposed to government in business, who believe in the fine old principle of ruthless competition, red in tooth and claw. They are the champions of Big Business and the sacred rights of Property. But there is the irony in it—that about it they succeed in economic nationalism, if the United States finally decides to go ahead and be self-contained, to import only what it can't produce, it can look after itself all right and the ruthless competitors, the opponents of government in business, will rejoice.

But they will rejoice too soon. For obviously the only way the United States can develop this self-contained economy is by the most rigid control of business through the government, by the compensation of large sections of the population for their losses, by the bonusing of agriculture and other industries. The United States export trade is small compared with its total trade, but some industries, like agriculture, are in a state of collapse for lack of it. Some industries, like cotton, depend largely on export. To make the readjustment necessary in a self-contained economy, the United States can't possibly continue on the old free-and-easy basis. The men who want this system, who want to ignore the rest of the world can do it, but not as they seem to suppose. They will find instead a kind of state socialism on the American plan. It may be satisfactory, but it won't be what they expect.

GOLD

Except when someone like Mrs. Nell Glover arouses our native pride and stirs our island passions, we take everything about us for granted. For example, we are taking the present condition of the Island Highway for granted, though for the last month it has been a road through fairyland, probably the loveliest route of travel in the world.

The broom is out on the Malahat these days. It has marched up on both sides of the highway and covered the bare places until its golden blossoms flow like a tide in all directions and drips over the road like a fountain. There is no sight like this anywhere in British Columbia. Beside the scenic highways of the Rockies, the interior roads, with all their canyons, sunflowers, cactus and tiger lilies are dull places indeed. Here you can travel for miles through banks of flowers such as no gardener ever conceived before. It is a road through an enchanted land and you move as in a dream, as if this couldn't possibly be real.

Yet I have heard no one remark of it. I have seen no mention of it in print. And some fellows with whom I drove up the Island yesterday were talking about the condition of business and the gold standard while this living gold bubbled in the breeze beside them. My own expectation is that in time broom will soon be declared a foul and noxious weed and will be ruthlessly rooted out, and the Island Highway will be left to the mercy of people who even now are wrecking it with wood cutting operations which the broom, if given a chance, will mercifully hide. As there are no farms up on the Malahat, no land that can suffer from it, broom should be left there to roam as it pleases and, if we must have a commercial motive for everything, to provide a sight which foreigners, more appreciative than we are, will travel thousands of miles to see.

THISTLES

Speaking of roads, I perceive that my original expectations and most dire prophecies, which no one paid any attention to, have been fulfilled in grisly fashion. I told you a year or so ago, when the government decided to relieve unemployment by clearing all the broom and wild briar and willows off the sides of the Saanich roads, that the result would be unpleasant.

Last night as I strolled down several of the main roads where unemployment had been relieved in this fashion I perceived that the roadside, which used to be lush and sweet at this season with wild roses and broom, had grown up in a vast forest of thistles. You couldn't walk through them, and to complete the logic of this great programme they had spread into the farmers' fields at the sides and were sweeping on there quite merrily. It takes years to kill out a single thistle in the ordinary way. We have nothing to fear now. The splendid programme of making the roads ugly has served its purpose. The result of assuring the farmers of thistles for the next century.

BRIGHT IDEA

Another brilliant improvement conceived by the government, though not this particular one, is the establishment of muskrats on the Saanich Peninsula. Somebody originated the remarkable project of giving Saanich a fur industry, so they put a pair of muskrats in a ditch and rejoiced when they were blessed with offspring. Muskrats are very blessed in that matter. Now the offspring of the offspring are swarming every ditch in the country, gnawing George Puddbury vegetables, killing out Mr. Beak's entire garden, murdering chickens and having a right merry time as our guests. I expect the thistles and muskrats will have taken full possession of the countryside within a year or so and we shall be driven forth into the night. It is too bad somebody didn't think of the better idea of putting the government in the ditch and leaving the muskrats at home. You can deal with governments but muskrats are immortal.

NEARLY GONE

ALL THIS, I agree, is rather idiotic and doesn't get us anywhere. But I warned you what would happen this week. I am in the last throes of getting ready to go away into the wilds. I am half gone already, as you may observe. I am in agonies of preparation and uncertainty. I cannot decide between two things. I am either going down an unworthy desire to take along a can of worms in case of emergencies. (At the moment it seems likely that I shall resist this foolish impulse, perhaps because I can't find any worms to take along. Worms are getting too intelligent in this country. They know the fishing season and always disappear as soon as it begins, which seems very unsporting of them.)

I have a list of things to get so long that I know very well I shall go off without some essential thing like an axe, an extra pair of socks or some grub. And there is no use my trying to stop now. Nothing can stop me from going. Nothing can save you from two weeks of loneliness and despair. There is no use writing to the paper about it. No use complaining to the police or throwing stones through the pressroom windows at the editors. No use lynching the editors. If I can ever get all the equipment I need, if I ever complete the list of things which I keep adding to at intervals during the day and frequently during the night, then I am going to leave you. And I shall bear the parting with fortitude.

GOLD FISH POOL

Flocks of sunlight on the water
 Dappled by the oak leaves shade;
 Moving light, and rainbow-rayed
 White and golden, black and orange,
 Sinuous sunbeams, restless, swift,
 Now they flash through moss-green water,
 Now, like languid flowers, they drift.

Shafts of sunlight, quivering, sinking Deep into the emerald pool,
 Where the other beams are dying
 Through the water, clear and cool.

White clouds in the clear-green mirror
 Flit through oak leaves' awning bower,
 Bend away and wind and water
 Memories of a summer hour.

News of English Derby Picked Up By Passengers in Air Near Bagdad

London, June 27.—The wireless operators on air-liners flying along empire routes sometimes pick up now-aways messages while flying at high altitudes which emanate from points thousands of miles from the spot over which the aircraft may be passing.

For example, while the Imperial Airways "Hannibal" was flying along the section of the India air route between Bagdad and Basra, the operator heard the wireless message from England which was flashing round the world the result of the classic horse race which had just been run on Epsom Downs.

Thus the passengers in the machine, although they were high in the air at the moment, heard a stretch of the Derby within a minute or so of the winner having passed the post.

Not long ago another remarkable long range race as between an aircraft and a ground station was obtained while an

THE HOSPITALS AID TAX

To the Editor:—Hotel and restaurant keepers in this province have been appointed en masse as agents of the crown for the enforcement of the Hospitals Aid Act, and for the collection of taxes.

Now that these gentlemen have become civil servants, various questions arise. Are they entitled to appoint deputies and sub-agents? If not, who collects the taxes in their absence? Should they apply for leave before being absent? If so, to whom should they apply? Are they released from their official duties on the usual government holidays? If so, to whom should taxes be paid on those days? At what age are they superannuated? If they continue in their private occupations after the age of superannuation, do their customers escape taxation? Are they entitled to pensions? If so, at what rate and after how many years' service? Can they resign, or purchase their discharge? By virtue of their official positions, are they entitled to be present at court? Do they, in the table of precedence, rank before or after the younger sons of knights? What is the maximum punishment that they can be awarded for the following offences: Intoxication while on duty, rudeness to visiting brother agents of the crown, failure to understand their instructions, May they demand trial by their peers, or must they submit to the findings of a court composed of lesser dignitaries than agents of the crown? Are they granted distinctive privileges such as cockades for their footmen, side-whiskers, or special rates at Buckingham Palace? Will persistent inefficiency secure their discharge, or will the previously successful, but permanently sub-normal vendor of poor pies, be thrashed or confined to the stocks for failure to please the crown which he serves? Are these appointments entirely free from party patronage, or is a Liberal in danger of being created an agent of the double crown by a Conservative government? Will the flag on Parliament grounds fly at half-mast when an agent is called to rest? Are an agent's children born free?

"LOYAL SUBJECT OF THE CROWN."

REEVE CROUCH COMES BACK

To the Editor:—In The Daily Times of Saturday's edition, there is the report of a meeting held in Saanich by Mr. Norman Whittaker, the Liberal candidate.

Mr. Whittaker in referring to Reeve Crouch says "the noted that the Reeve had assailed both major political parties, that he (the Reeve) had added prestige to being created a peer, president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities and if he could make no head-

Imperial Airways machine was in flight along the Africa route. On that occasion while the air-liner was between Juba and Kampala, its operator succeeded in establishing contact with the British Post Office station at Port-Harbour, near Bristol, a distance of approximately 4,000 miles.

On another occasion recently, while an air-liner was in flight over the Africa route, its operator succeeded in writing down accurately items from a bulletin which was being broadcast from a ground station in Florida. Air-liners in flight over Africa have also established wireless contact on several occasions with land stations in Germany and Italy, while not long ago a machine, using short-wave transmission, flying from Cairo to Cape-town, succeeded in maintaining communication with Cairo when at a distance of well over 1,000 miles.

way in that position he could not as an independent hope to do much to advance the interests of Saanich."

My lawyer friend must be aware that as president of the U.B.C.M. I am placed in that position to represent all municipalities. Evidently in the opinion of some eight municipalities, I am making headway, as their municipal councils have during the last three months gone out of their way to pass special votes of thanks to me as president of the Union for, as they say, "the excellent services and the untiring efforts I have rendered to the municipalities in connection with unemployment relief."

Mr. Whittaker is aware also that only a short time ago the executive of the Union, headed by their president, waited upon the executive council of the provincial government, protesting against the new agreement made between the Dominion and provincial governments whereby their share of relief would be cut down from 33 1-3 to 10 per cent. Our representations were well received by the provincial government, and, while apparently I do not yet try to load in the opinion of my lawyer friend, we made such headway that most, if not all, municipalities in British Columbia are still operating on the original basis of one-third each federal, provincial and municipal, thus saving the cities and municipalities many thousands of dollars.

Of course, I understand that there will be any amount of these slams, digs and mis-statements made in an effort to belittle any independent candidate, but I think the people understand this and I am not losing any sleep over it. Later on I will be holding meetings and can handle these gentlemen and their statements, and I do not think it will be necessary at my meetings to have concert bands, singers, conjurers and finish up with refreshments. If it is necessary to put on a vaudeville show and a band to make the electors forget what the speaker is trying to load them with, politics must certainly have reached a low ebb. I have no intention of indulging in a circus, and if the electors can only be induced by these means, as far as I am concerned, I will drop out, thus leaving the field to sleight of hand artists. I would like, however, to recall the words, I believe of Abraham Lincoln: "You can fool all the people some of the time and some of the people all the time, but not all the people all the time."

In conclusion, during my life I have endeavored to maintain an independent attitude. If the people of Saanich want me as a member of Parliament

they will probably have the opportunity of letting me know. I hold a brief for any political party and I am not out to attack anyone personally. The result of party government in British Columbia has been disastrous. More than one-third of our revenue at least, is being paid out for debt service. It is time something else was tried and however little success the efforts may be rewarded with, it led to conceive that it would be possible to make a worse failure the party government has been to date.

LOWER FERRY RATES URGED

City Council and Other Local Bodies Will Seek Reductions From C.P.R.

Present Scales Have Detrimental Effect on Tourist Trade, Aldermen Claim

Possibility of having the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company lower ferry rates between Victoria and the mainland will be taken up shortly by a joint committee of the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce and other interested organizations, in the interest of the city's tourist trade, the council decided yesterday afternoon.

Alderman J. D. Hunter presented a motion which prompted the action. In enlarging upon it he viewed the Victoria angle of the situation, saying that he felt if the rates were lowered the company would benefit by the corresponding increase in traffic and the city would also reap a harvest.

He suggested the lowering of the rates to the nominal fee of $1 or $1.50 for a car and driver and felt that there would be a substantial increase to warrant the reduction. The motion was seconded by Alderman W. H. Kinsman and received the full support of the council.

Mayor Leeming was pleased that this matter was brought forward and also felt that both the company and the city would benefit. Alderman John Worthington felt the rates should be lowered in view of the fact that it was now possible to take a car from Victoria to San Francisco for $5.

1, 1930, at 83½ and accrued interest and also $5,000 worth of City of Victoria 4s, due September 4, 1930, at 83½ and accrued interest, and $1,000 worth of C.N.O.R. 3½ per cent bonds, due in 1931, at 81½, plus accrued interest, now held by the city, to accept $1,000 worth of City of Victoria 4½ per cent bonds, due in 1932, at 82.25, plus accrued interest.

The Smoothest Piston Stroke Ever Achieved with a Non-Premium Gasoline

UNION 76 has a higher anti-knock rating than any other non-premium gasoline available in Western Canada today.
Anti-knock quality is vitally important to you as a motorist.
It gives the smooth, effortless power the designer of your high compression motor intended you to enjoy—it increases the power and acceleration of old-model cars.

Direct advantage of anti-knock quality is a smoother piston stroke.
Pressure on the piston-head is sustained during the full power stroke and power overlaps between the firing of every cylinder.

You can feel the difference—in smoother, more thrilling acceleration—in full power on the highways and when climbing long hills—and easier handling in traffic. Pounding and vibration is ended—all unnecessary wear on your motor is eliminated.

Scientific blending of a wide variety of the finest crude oils is the basis of anti-knock quality in a gasoline. Union has a vast crude oil supply. Every test known to modern practical science is used to step up the anti-knock quality of 76 without increasing the cost.

At every Orange and White Union Pump every day of the year, and under all weather conditions, you are assured of a non-premium gasoline which is fresh, uniform and highest in anti-knock power.

Today all Union Service Stations are displaying the big 76 banners. They wave a friendly invitation to you. Swing in for extra courtesy and service and more value for your money.
Made in British Columbia—No Extra Cost.

OPPOSITION TO BUREAU GRANT

Aldermen R. T. Williams and A. McGavin Continue Protest Against Publicity

Aldermen R. T. Williams and Andrew McGavin maintained their consistent stand against the city's grant to the publicity bureau at yesterday's meeting of the City Council, when the former stated he could not understand why practically the entire grant had been expended during the first six months of this year.

On recommendation from the finance committee a grant of $5,000 out of the current year's appropriation was authorized.

Alderman Williams queried this asking how much the bureau had received to date and requesting to see the committee's report. On learning from the report that the bureau had already obtained $15,000, including the $5,000 grant recommended, Alderman Williams said:

"Why here it is only half the year gone and the publicity bureau has spent its whole grant except $2,000.
I'm going to vote against it."

The alderman was informed by the Mayor that this was the customary time of the year to spend the bureau funds, rather than wait until the end of the year.

Aldermen Williams and McGavin were recorded as voting in the negative.

REGULATION OF DAIRIES SOUGHT

Owners of cows, who for the last three years have neglected to observe the city by-law which allows that only two cows may be kept in a dairy in the city, will be given three months in which to take notice of the regulation, after which the by-law will be rigidly enforced, the City Council decided yesterday afternoon.

The council's attention was drawn to this matter by a petition from twenty ratepayers of the Edgeware district, who pointed out that in this vicinity ten cows, one bull and a number of hens were being kept on a 150-foot lot, contrary to the by-law. The petition urged that the regulation be enforced in this case.

It was decided that in cases of this nature the owners should be given three months' notice.

WHEAT SESSIONS ARE ADJOURNED

Pause in Acreage Negotiations at London; Australians Thresh Out Views

Possibility of Dumping of Canadian-U.S. Surplus Wheat Is Mentioned

By Alvin Hallman, Associated Press Staff Writer
London, June 27.—A renewed threat of chaos and price debacles which would follow if the Canadian and United States wheat surplus of 500,000,000 bushels should be "dumped" on the world market acted today to save from breakdown the wheat acreage restriction negotiations of the four principal wheat-producing nations.

The "Big Four" broke up after being in session for an hour. Rt. Hon. Stanley M. Bruce of Australia told Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada and the representatives of the United States and Argentina that three Australian states were adamant in their opposition to the restriction scheme.

Mr. Bruce himself was most willing, he declared, to work out some plan whereby Australian adherence to the project could be assured, but he commented that the difficulties of his position could not be minimized.

What the release of the North American surplus would do to world markets was called to the attention of Mr. Bruce.

Mr. Bruce and the Argentines left the meeting at this stage and Prime Minister Bennett and the Americans remained on, discussing the situation.

Mr. Bennett departed about noon and the United States delegates stayed together another half hour, reconvening the position. One of them said afterward that they were "convinced Australia will have to come into line."

Canberra, will result in another meeting being called, perhaps within four or five days.

Argentina's discouragement at developments was tempered by the North American conviction of eventual success, for no other reason than that participation is a downright necessity to prevent a market debacle.

Conversations between Mr. Bruce and some of the smaller producing nations during the next few days are considered likely, and it is possible the Argentine will be drawn in.

In quarters close to the conferees it was stated the use of the surplus in the event of failure to reach an agreement had only been hinted at until the last two meetings. Then, after the speech in the United States of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, in which he spoke of the possibility, it was laid before the other delegates.

ARTHUR KENT DIES AT MAYO'S

Founded Pacific Transfer Company and Was Prominent in Odd Fellows

Arthur E. Kent, well known in Victoria for many years as owner of the Pacific Transfer Company and more recently as a member of the Provincial Assessor's department, died in Mayo Brothers' Institute, Rochester, Minn., last Friday. He went to the Mayo's only several days ago for treatment. The funeral will be held in Victoria at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow from the B.C. Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Kent was born in Bedfordshire sixty-one years ago. He came to Canada at the age of sixteen, settling in the east for a number of years, then, thirty-seven years ago, moved to Victoria. He founded the Pacific Transfer Company here and maintained active management of it for eighteen years from its building on Lower Fort Street, until he sold the business, retiring from active life until the war broke out. Then he entered the income tax collection branch of the British Columbia Government, where he worked for fifteen years.

He was an enthusiastic lodge worker, being a member of No. 2, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. His interest in lodge work was shown by his rise through various offices until he reached the post of grand noble and past grand noble.

He leaves a wife and one daughter, Mrs. Llewellyn Jones, both living at the family home, 805 Linden Avenue; four brothers, Thomas, John, Henry and William, in England; three sisters, Alice, Emily and Anne, in England, and one grandchild at the Linden Avenue home.

Uncle Wiggily's Hot Day

By HOWARD K. GARIS

When Uncle Wiggily hopped out of bed in his hollow stump bungalow one morning he knew it was going to be a hot day. Early as it was he could feel the hot sun coming in his window and the wind hardly any breeze to make it cool.

"This is going to be a very hot day!" said Uncle Wiggily to himself as he put on his very thin shirt, for the sun had started to go down stairs to breakfast. "I think it is too hot to slide down the banister rail," he said. "I'll walk and go slowly."

Uncle Wiggily found his wife and Nurse Jane sitting in the dark dining room, for they had closed the shutters to keep out the hot sun. They were fanning themselves with big leaves from the burdock plant.

"It is too hot to eat," said Nurse Jane. "What do you want, Wiggy?" asked his wife.

"I'll have some fried snowballs and boiled icicles," he said with a jolly laugh. And laughing made him so hot.

that he had to stop twinkling his pink nose which he liked very much to do. "Don't joke!" begged Nurse Jane, who started to laugh at Uncle Wiggily's talk about fried snowballs and boiled icicles. "Shall I get you some frozen carrot juice?"

"That and a plate of orange juice with snow on the top," said the rabbit gentleman.

"So he ate a very light breakfast and then, as he took his big straw hat down off the rack, his wife exclaimed: "Where are you going, Wiggy?"

"Out to look for an adventure," he answered.

"Not on this hot day!" said Nurse Jane.

"Why not?" asked the rabbit. "I go adventuring every day. I must not stay at home just because it is hot. Anyhow, if I look for adventures I may forget about the heat."

"Oh, dear!" sighed Mrs. Longears. "It is very hot!"

And, truly, it was, as Uncle Wiggily found when he had left his cool, hollow stump bungalow. But once he had started he was not going to turn back. So away he went, walking slowly over the fields and through the woods, keeping in the shade as much as he could.

Then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily happened to think of his own and other animal children in the Hollow Stump School.

"It must be much hotter for them than it is for me," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "Poor little things cooped up in a hot school! Well, this is the last day. To-morrow the long vacation starts and then they can hop around with very few clothes on and keep cool."

"But this is a very hot day," said the rabbit gentleman to himself, "and it will seem a long time until to-morrow when there is no school. I think I should help the animal children to get cool. Now how is the best way to do this?"

Uncle Wiggily knew that he could not make the weather any cooler. He might, if he had a lot of electric fans, blow some cooler breezes into the Hollow Stump School.

"But I couldn't do that now," said the bumpy uncle, speaking out loud. "I think the best thing to do will be to get a lot of ice cream and take it to the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Stump School. She can have a class in ice cream eating and that will make her and the children cool for a little while at least."

Keeping in the shade, Uncle Wiggily hopped to the cool cave of Mr. White-wash, the Polar Bear gentleman.

"Have you any ice cream, Whittier?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Plenty of it," growled the Polar Bear in his jolly voice.

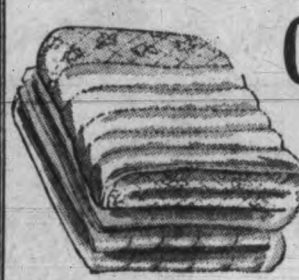

"Then pack up a big freezer of it and we'll take it to school," said Uncle Wiggily.

"What for?" asked Mr. White-wash.

"To cool the Lady Mouse and the animal children," said Mr. White-wash.

Soon they were at the Hollow Stump School, where it was so very hot that Miss Mouse was getting ready to let all the animal girls and boys go home.

YOUNG GIRL IS SHIP'S CAPTAIN

Mildred Wamboldt of Nova Scotia Commands Therault

Canadian Press
Port Hawkesbury, N.S., June 27.—Miss Mildred Wamboldt swept an eye over the schooner E. F. Therault's trim lines. She was standing on the after deck, a slim, pretty miss of twenty-one, seemingly out of place at the schooner's wheel.

She turned aside for a moment to give an order to a burly sailor who seemed to have nothing in particular to do at the moment. And he turned to the task with a will.

For Miss Wamboldt is really Captain Wamboldt, skipper—shades of those hard-bitten Bluenose sailors whose belated orders were followed, likely as not, by a well-aimed belaying pin—of a Nova Scotia coaster.

Skipper she is, and owner of the Therault, a vessel of 432 gross tons. And she handles the schooner as though she had spent all her life at sea. She hasn't but she has spent most of her twenty-one years on board one craft or another.

"She has been on land for less than six months in the last nine years. And she doesn't think much of a shore life. 'I don't think I could live if I had to stay ashore,' she says."

Miss Wamboldt finds her sex handicap to her duties as captain as it can set a course, handle a crew and transact the business of a coasting schooner with the best of them. Of course, she takes her foster-father, Angus Publicover, along on most of her voyages. But he's only mate. Miss Wamboldt gives the orders.

She likes nothing better than to stand at the Therault's wheel as it reels off the knots in a spanking blow. And she's no fair-weather skipper either. Last February she was bound from Turku Island for New York with a cargo of salt when the schooner was caught in a terrific gale. She turned the schooner about and ran before the wind. When the gale finally blew itself out, the Therault was 130 miles from Barbados, with most of her sail stripped away, but Miss Therault managed to navigate her into the islands, where she sold her cargo.

CLOSING CONCERT

Pupils of the Victoria School of Expression Heard Saturday Evening

A packed hall gave an enthusiastic welcome to the closing concert of the season, which the Victoria School of Expression gave on Saturday in the New Theatre. The programme was inspiring and delightful in its fresh spontaneity. The beauty and expressiveness of both vocal and dramatic items was in some cases remarkable while the spoken English was without a flaw.

It was an entertainment depending for its excellence on the meticulous care evidently given to almost every number, and the simplicity and naturalness of each performer gave evidence of the finest type of training. Exquisite purity of tone added to perfection of diction and expressiveness combined to make the vocal numbers unusually pleasing.

Several numbers were superb in quality, notably "In No Strange Land," recited by Lilian Pitkethley; the scene from "As You Like It," played by Marjorie Graham and Eileen Davis; "The Angel," sung by Evelyn Valiant and Margie Graham; and "Golden of the Spirits," recited by Dorothy Davies.
Rita Galie, Muriel Jarvis and Clemency Ord revealed voices of great charm and promise. Noel Johnson, Margaret Savage and Ellen Bowles were other delightful singers. Ronald MacDonald and George Little proved to be very popular with the audience as reciters, and Leslie Clarke, Harry Potter and Bernard Costello also recited well. Tom McMartin, Patricia Swan and Peggy
Sedgman gave excellent piano solos.

An unusual feature of the programme was the unexpected introduction of speeches by members of the audience during the interval. Miss M.
Baker, Mrs. Griffiths and Wm. Mc-Phail all spoke eloquently of the value to the community of the work being done in the school. Captain and Mrs.
Wilfrid Ord spoke gracefully from the stage. Opal Abercrombie and Dorothy Davies those taking part in the programme were as follows:

In each case the place won at recent musical festivals in Victoria, Vancouver and Nanaimo, is appended:
Eileen Davis, second; Nora Garsin,

STAR OF THE SEA

There is no excuse for the wild waves being wild at Venice, California, not with the softening influence of Janet Gaynor, petite screen star, being exerted there.
She is shown in a scene from shorts and sailor jumper, relaxing from scenes of her new movie.

Pupils' Recital.—Before a full attendance of parents and friends, the students training under Mrs. Sangster, gave another of their delightful entertainments on Saturday evening in St.
Martin's Hall. The following took part in the programme. Molly Raper, Grace Sinclair, Brian Scarle, Doris
Smith, Eddie Turkington, Jean Dobble,
Ann Taylor, Josephine Dobble, David
Dorman, Jean Metcalfe, Harry Frost,
Audrey Goodman, Ellen Dorman, Alice
Ashford, May Jamieson and Boreen Briggs. Little Sadie Jamieson delighted the audience with Highland dancing, and another special feature was an accordion solo by Stan Metcalfe.

CLARK GABLE IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, B.C., June 26.—Clark Gable, movie star, and his attractive wife stole quickly into Vancouver yesterday afternoon and registered at Hotel Vancouver.

"We're in no hurry to go any place in particular," Gable was quoted as saying. "We expect to be leaving for Banff in a few days. Our friends have told us about the beauty of the Canadian Rockies and we want to see it all for ourselves."

Meanwhile the Gables are keeping very much to themselves because their is a vacation trip. Gable left instructions with the switchboard girls that no calls were to be put through to the suite which they are occupying with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sherman, Hollywood friends.

News of Gable's presence in Vancouver spread like wildfire after the tall screen star and his diminutive wife were seen window shopping about the streets. He wore a navy blue suit, raffishly tailored; a white shirt and slouch hat. Missing was the turtle neck sweater in which he appears in so many newspaper "stills." Mrs. Gable wore a brown ensemble being colored dressed in a brown sweater coat brown shoes, light stockings and a light, tan hat.

MAY SEARCH

Backers of Flight Endeavoring to Have Frank Hawks
Search Northern Territory

Chicago, June 27.—Sponsors of the round-the-world flight which Jimmie Mattern attempted, announced to-day they planned to appeal to Frank Hawks, noted speed flier, to search for Mattern in the north.
Attorney S. J. Sackett, one of the backers, said he was confident Mattern still lived, probably stranded in the Arctic and struggling to reach some means of communication.

Sackett said that he, Harry Jamieson, Yahden Mills and Jack Clark, all of Chicago, probably would join in the appeal to Hawks. He planned to communicate with Hawks immediately.
"I believe he is well equipped for such an undertaking," Sackett said.
"He probably could fly from the United States to Nome, Alaska, thence northwestward over the route Mattern immediately took from Russia to America."
"We are confident Mattern has not perished. He was capable and had a good plane. Most important of all, he was not foolhardy. There might have been a mishap, but we all believe Jimmie would have been able to make a landing under any conditions."

RICH AND 80, WEDS HIS NURSE, 28

"I'm never going to be old—I'm just going to keep on being a big kid forever!" And Crosby Leonard, eighty-year-old New York poet and capitalist, promptly proved his boast by marrying his pretty twenty-eight-year-old nurse, Miss Ida M. Clarke, though he had a little trouble kneeling for the ceremony. Here's the happy couple leaving the Little Church Around the Corner in New York after the wedding.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 27.—Andrew Whyte of Edmonton, Alta., vice-president of Kiwanis International, appearing to-day before the delegates attending the seventeenth annual convention being held here this week, showed the value of service club community work.
"Kiwanis clubs were never more active than at the present time. The seventy clubs in Canada have completed hundreds of community and welfare activities," he declared.
The annual All-Canada banquet will

United States will be present.

WHAT ONE GIRL WORE

By Betty Brownlee

This is the season of the year when one feels the need of innumerable frocks. Especially if you find it necessary to spend the warm months in the city, you want a variety of thin frocks to that you can keep looking cool and fresh.

Since cottons are so big this year—I can't remember when linen ever played so big a part in the summer fashion picture—it is not so difficult to keep the handbox appearance no matter how the thermometer hops.

Jacket costumes are much in vogue this season and with two or three jacket costumes one can make any number of combinations.
For instance, in to-day's sketch we show a very simple frock of white silk brocade. It is worn with a bright blue tie silk jacket, hip length, and printed with large white coin dots.
The girl wears on the dress matches the fabric of the jacket. And the scarf collar—detachable on the jacket is of the same material as the dress.

Well, this while dress could be worn with any other jacket from any other frocks. For instance, a bright red crepe jacket could be substituted. Remove the polka-dotted girdle and substitute a bright red leather belt and the costume will be just as effective. And, of course, substitute either a bright red bag or a white bag, for the polka-dotted model sketched here.

MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

Nowadays even the most inexperienced housewife can fill her preserve cupboard with delicious jelly. Definite rules have been worked out for her and "jelly that won't jell" is not one of her problems.

There are four necessary ingredients for jelly and these must be used in correct proportions. Fruit juice, fruit acid, sugar and pectin—these are the necessities.

Some fruits which are lacking in pectin when fully ripe will jell naturally if used when slightly under-ripe.
The fruits that make the best jelly when used alone are sour apples (including crabapples), currants, sour blackberries, under-ripe grapes, gooseberries and decidedly under-ripe raspberries.

PECTIN TEST NECESSARY
The acidity of a fruit is readily detected by the taste, but the presence of pectin must be determined by test.
Should a juice lack acid it can quickly be corrected by adding one tablespoon lemon juice to each cup of fruit juice.

Here are two simple pectin tests the home-maker can depend on. One test is made by the use of Epsom salts and the other by denatured alcohol. As denatured alcohol is poisonous, care must be taken that the tested juice is not tasted.

To test for pectin with alcohol, measure one tablespoon of fruit juice into a dish and add one tablespoon alcohol. If a jelly-like mass forms immediately, a large amount of pectin is present and one cup of sugar to one cup of fruit juice should be used to make the jelly. If the juice forms into small flaky particles, there is a small amount of pectin and two-thirds cup of sugar to one cup of fruit juice should be used. If the mixture of juice and alcohol remains unchanged in consistency, there is no pectin present and commercial pectin or the juice from some fruit known to be rich in pectin must be used.

COOK HARD FRUITS TENDER
To make the Epsom salts test, mix one tablespoon fruit juice, one teaspoon sugar and half teaspoon Epsom salts. Stir until the salts are dissolved and then let stand twenty minutes.
The jelly-like mass or the formation of flaky particles indicates the amount of sugar to use as in the alcohol test.
Hard fruits such as apples and quinces must be cut in quarters and cooked in enough water to make tender in order to extract the juice. Soft fruits such as berries and currants are heated in just enough water to prevent burning until juice flows freely.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Berries with ready-to-serve cereal, cream, poached eggs, crisp toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon: Cheese fondue, creamed
new peas, cabbage and grape fruit salad, apple crisp, milk, tea.
Dinner: Vegetable plate, peanut brittle ice cream, sponge drops, milk, coffee.

Mr. Aleutian Native Will Open to Public Inspection During Morning

Motorists of Victoria may now enjoy the advantages of Richfield Hi-octane Gasoline, which is being introduced to Victoria under its own name, by H. L. Bevan, district manager for the Richfield Oil Company, announced. We are happy to announce the appointment of H. L. Bevan as the district manager for Richfield in British Columbia. Mr. Bevan's experience in merchandising of oil products will now be directed solely in connection with the Richfield Oil Company, which is distributing the Atlas Oil Company of Seattle, said Mr. Bevan.

In turn, the Atlas Oil Company has joined the Victoria Petroleum Distributors Limited as Richfield distributors in the county of Victoria. Richfield Hi-octane through this distribution will be available at eight advantageous locations in Victoria at the moment.

Comprehensive plans for the introduction of Richfield Hi-octane include a colorful parade Wednesday morning through the main streets of Victoria, a banquet at the Empress Hotel Wednesday evening for Richfield officials, the local distributors and prominent citizens of Victoria and Seattle.

As a climax to the events all Victoria is able to listen Wednesday evening to a special public broadcast on KOMO, Seattle, at 10 o'clock. In Hayes, Richfield reporter, will announce not only the introduction of Hi-octane to Victoria, but will tell of tourist attractions of this city. This broadcast will utilize all the National Broadcasting stations of the Pacific coast.

As a further attraction for the public of Victoria, the Petroleum Navigation Company's tanker, Aleutian Native, which delivers Richfield products, will be open for public inspection at the Island Tug and Barge docks, between 10 o'clock and noon tomorrow. The Aleutian Native is one of the most modern oil tankers, using the latest Diesel and electrical engines, as well as the latest fire-fighting equipment.

An innovation in radio log cards will be distributed free at all service stations handling Richfield Hi-octane tomorrow. Richfield dealers are not only list the complete favorite programmes of the major broadcasting stations, but also tell the correct hour of nearest station. COMBINE AMONG FIRMS CHARGED

Alliance Exists to Prevent Variance in Tenders, A. W. Luney Tells Council

Procedure Described as Irregular and Against the Law

Existence of a dealers' combine to prevent variance in tenders on electric light equipment, was charged by Alderman Walter Luney at the City Council meeting yesterday afternoon when ten bids received for two lots of globes were found to be identical in the name.

The tenders were called for 3,000 city-wide light lamps, 100, 800 incandescent lamps, and 432 twelve-inch incandescent lamps. The tender for the first was $12,577, the figure being the same for every firm. This was awarded to Hawkins and Hayward. In the case of the second lot of globes, very firm had the same bid with the exception of Canadian Fairbanks Morse company, whose tender of $243.49 was accepted. The third lot was purchased from the General Electric Company or $729.24.

SEEK CONTRACT

Accompanying the tenders was a letter from the Canadian Fairbanks Morse Company stating that it was "let that firm should receive the greatest tender in view of the fact that its price was lowest. This was based on the totals of the first two tenders, for which the remaining firms had all tendered the same price. This is a good illustration of a combine," Alderman Luney stated, "and I think it is most irregular for a firm to be awarded a contract without the existence of a combine."

"It is against the law on our statute books and we should see that this law is enforced," commented Alderman R. J. Williams.

In regard to the company's letter, S. M. Smith, city purchasing agent, explained that the firm had been customary to purchase this equipment in separate lots and not to award the whole contract to an individual firm.

ESQUIMALT GETS RELIEF REFUND

Esquimalt's application to have the Fordham Commission refund a portion of unemployed men's relief costs for January and February has been favorably received by the commission, and the amount will be forwarded forthwith it was reported to the municipal council yesterday evening.

At its last meeting the council applied for the refund. During the month of January and February the municipality only paid two-thirds of single men's relief costs, the municipality contributing the other third. Since the governments have accepted full responsibility of single men's relief, it was felt that the municipality was due for a refund for its amount.

The commission recently informed Reeve Albert Hensel that the refund of about $150 was due, and that it would be remitted immediately.

Reporter Must Work Even When On His Holidays

Leslie Fox, Police Reporter of The Times, Takes Alaskan Cruise and At Outset Encounters United States Traveler Who Talks in Superlatives About the Land He Is to See.

By LESLIE FOX

Representative of The Victoria Times aboard Ss. Prince George, June 19 (By Mail).—This is all the fault of the city editor. Here I had visions of spending ten days at least far from the smell of printer's ink and the rattle of typewriters, but it seems a reporter is married to his job.

Just as I was basking out what I expected would be the last "thirty" for two weeks, last Saturday, and was gazing with a far-off look to the distant hills, my holidays calling, he added up with:

"Humph! You starting vacation Monday? Where you going?"

"Alaska," I replied, "pleasant-like, though not seeming too enthusiastic, in case he'd find a sudden assignment which might postpone the vacation."

"Oh, Alaska! Well, for you, I guess there's lots of people in town would like to be going along in this fine weather," he says.

"M-mm," I acquiesced, kind of sparing for time, because I began to get an inkling of what was coming. Then he came.

"Well, suppose you give us a daily column on the trip," he says.

"Whaddya mean?" I countered. "Is holidays for me?"

"Don't mean to say you're an artist you wouldn't share them with someone else," he retorts.

So that's how it was that I boarded the Prince George at Vancouver to-night with a sense of rankling against what I considered a grave imposition on my liberty; that is if a reporter can call his soul his own.

However, the crossing from Victoria was perfect, with the gorgeous June sun in attendance all the way and after sampling Chief Steward Hartley's excellent cuisine at the dinner table, some of the bitterness departed, and I decided the poor city editor, chained to his desk dishing out the news, deserved sympathy more than rally.

There were other things, too, which softened the blow of dragging pencil and paper forever with one.

HE KNEW HIS ALASKA

At the dinner table an American who ate nuts with great gusto and said he had lived for years at Ketchikan, described the water passage to Alaska as the most marvelous of any kind in the world. There was no half way about it. He said it was the best. Dealing out more superlatives, he declared the Canadian National was going to be the finest service to Alaska. And he knew, he said in no uncertain terms, because he'd traveled by them all winter and summer.

This developed a friendly argument with a middle-aged couple from Pasadena regarding the respective speed of Canadian and U.S. vessels plying the northern route and it came out that down in California they have come to know Canadian travel service as the finest in the world.

This is the Prince George's first trip of the summer season, with Capt. H. E. Nedden in command, the passenger accommodation well occupied and pleasant prospects ahead.

The send-off at Vancouver added to this anticipation. Serpentine shot freely from ship to shore and back again, while a last look at the deck played "Aloha" as the boat moved slowly away from the dock.

On the general question of indebtedness, M. Bonnet held that creditor nations should help debtors as much as possible by increasing import facilities. On the other hand, when debtor nations faced serious difficulties they should approach the creditors in sufficient time to permit any necessary measures to be approved.

Alfred Sarasin, president of the governing board of the Swiss National Bank, suggested the Bank for International Settlements should act as the co-ordinating body between organizations of creditors and debtors.

DEVALUATION FORESEEN

United States circles expressed the opinion the gold bloc scheme was futile and that devaluation of several European moneys was decidedly in prospect.

American circles, commenting on today's developments, made it clear they had no intention of starting a currency warfare, but at the same time could not fly in the face of a positive economic situation demanding revaluation of the dollar.

High sources here asserted there was no prospect of a return of the dollar to the gold parity.

Real progress was said to have been made in the monetary committee toward reaching an agreement in the reduction of the minimum of gold reserves which central banks must keep against currency as a step in the direction of a general return to a fixed monetary standard.

The monetary sub-committee dealing with Senator Key Pittman's resolution accepted his gold clauses and will so report to the parent commission for further action.

These gold clauses assert gold should be re-established as the international measure of exchange values, that its use should be confined to employment as cover for circulation and as a medium for settling international balances, and that it should be withdrawn from circulation.

The Pittman resolution also calls for a reduction in the minimum cover required for currencies and for the use of silver with gold in that cover.

STEERING COMMITTEE

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, president of the conference, convened a meeting of the conference steering committee for tomorrow afternoon to consider the progress of conference work and to lay plans for expediting it. This development was taken in conference circles to be intimately connected with the arrival to-night of Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley, who is coming to London direct from President Roosevelt.

By Melvin E. Whiteleather, Associated Press Staff Writer

London, June 27.—United action by central banks of France, Switzerland, Holland and Belgium to induce Great Britain to stabilize sterling and curb an international ring of currency speculators was decided on at a secret meeting to-day.

Nervousness sweeping over continental Europe over the ability of gold standard countries to remain on the gold basis caused the French delegation at midnight to call the closed session.

"We have decided to defend the gold standard to the last ditch," the president of one central bank said at the meeting.

The bank representatives met in the Geological Museum Building this morning before the arrival of delegates from the World Economic Conference.

Banks of Holland, Switzerland and

Belgium, it was learned on high authority, agreed to join the French in bringing pressure on Great Britain to stabilize sterling in relation to the franc.

It was decided to ask the Bank of England to make a declaration in which it would be stated that a further depreciation of continental currencies would be distinctly unfavorable to Great Britain.

"Such a declaration," a high banking authority said, "would open an avenue of close collaboration between the Bank of England and continental European banks."

"It would also have a happy effect on the stability of continental currencies."

TO ROUT BEARS

An understanding was reached, it was said, to pool interests in wiping out bear speculators who are blamed for the sharp fall in the Dutch guilder yesterday.

Gold bloc members claim bear operations on a wide scale are responsible for European uneasiness.

The guilder opened on the London exchange market to-day at yesterday's closing rate of 8.58 guilders to the pound sterling, but soon displayed strength and climbed to 8.53.

A stiff French fight to maintain European currencies at their present levels was interpreted in high banking quarters as in direct opposition to what is regarded as a United States scheme to seek depreciation of these moneys and as a means of raising price levels.

French quarters to-day said Senator James Couzens's speech yesterday, in which he urged that the "world move in concert with the American programme" looking towards the creation of employment and the raising of prices was a clear indication that Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley intends to cajole the gold bloc into accepting the Roosevelt rehabilitation programme.

This programme is feared as being likely to lead to uncontrolled inflation, it was said.

Public Works Costs Kept at Minimum in Esquimalt, Council Informed

Public works expenditures to date have been kept well within the current year's appropriation, the municipal engineer and chairman of the works committee reported to the Esquimalt Council yesterday evening in an itemized account of all funds expended to May 31.

The statement showed that $5,475 has been spent out of the $15,021, leaving a balance of $9,546 for the remaining seven months of 1933. This total consisted of the following amounts: General, $1,467; park, $163; garbage collection, $1,109; municipal hall, $303; tools, $42; repairs to machinery, $130; sewer maintenance, $1,278; and engineering and expenses, $880.

In addition to this work the report accounted for monies spent for unemployment relief. The total cost of relief this year was $4,450 to May 31. The net cost to the municipality was $1,386, the remainder being furnished by government portions and out of the special public fund created for work on Bullen's Park. The amount spent on the park includes $1,051 for supervision and materials and $339 for labor. Relief labor has been used in ditching Skinner's flats, the total cost of which was $64 for supervision and material and $61 for labor.

The municipal financial report for the first five months showed that total expenditure was $11,055.69, of which $7,504.25 was for general purposes and $3,551.44 was for school purposes. This total also included a payment of more than $2,000 to the bank.

PRESIDENT OF U.S. SAILS SCHOONER

President Roosevelt expects to visit ports in Nova Scotia before finally putting in at Campo Bello, New Brunswick, Thursday or Friday of this week, according to the latest report from his vacation schooner, Amberjack II, off the Maine coast. His decision to extend his cruise was made, when he found he was well ahead of the schedule he set before he left his desk at Washington. One of the Nova Scotia ports he plans to visit is Digby, where Henry M. Morgenthau Jr., governor of the U.S. Farm Credit Administration, and the President's secretary, Louis M. Howe, are scheduled to join the party. The picture above shows the President at the wheel of the Amberjack, which is a 45-foot schooner. Between the President and his son James (in black sweater) is Paul Rust, owner of the yacht.

The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada announces a number of important changes in its agency organization. E. V. Chown, LL.B., who has for the last seven years been associated with the Life Underwriters Association of Canada as general secretary and field superintendent, and latterly with that association as the Canadian Life Officers Association as secretary of the joint committee, has been appointed assistant superintendent of agencies and will assume his duties on July 1.

E. LeBaron Stearns, who has been a representative of the company in Toronto for five years, has been promoted to the office of agency assistant, and will work from the home office of the company in Waterloo with the various agencies.

J. G. Taylor, C.L.U., manager of the Toronto agency in the Canada Permanent Building, who has been associated with the company for thirty-two years, the last twenty-one of which he has been agency manager, desired to be relieved of the management in order that he might recuperate his health. He has been granted an extended leave of absence and his place is being filled by D. R. Gourlay, C.L.U., who has been manager of the downtown branch of the company in Montreal. To succeed

Mr. Gourlay, Frank Robinson, C.L.U., manager at Ottawa and formerly assistant manager at Toronto, moves to Montreal.

R. J. Davis, C.L.U., a former Ottawa

resident, who has been connected with the company for seventeen years, the last four of which as manager at Winnipeg, moves to Ottawa to take Mr.
Robinson's place, and N. A. MacMurchy,
C.L.U., manager at Edmonton, takes
Mr. Davis's place in Winnipeg.W. J. Brown, C.L.U., who has managed the uptown branch office for the company in Montreal since it was started eight years ago, and has successfully built a strong agency there, has been requested to be relieved of the management for personal reasons, but is still retaining his association with that office. R. C. Carter, manager at Windsor, Ontario, is moving to Montreal to assume the management of the uptown branch.Canada-U.S. Peace Held Up As Best Example For WorldLos Angeles, Calif., June 27.—"Canada and the United States have escaped for over a century the tyranny of a guarded frontier and menace of competitive armaments because of tolerance and intelligent appreciation of each other's progress and development,"
J. Roy Long of Vancouver, B.C., told 3,000 delegates to-day attending the annual convention of Kiwanis International here.There is no document in the diplomatic history of nations so simple as the Rush-Born Treaty, the spirit of which has kept the two nations for 116 years with demilitarized boundaries," he said. "Modern science has made all the world a neighborhood, and while nations are tied together by economic interdependence, which they cannot escape, they are kept apart today by the absence of understanding and goodwill. The example of the United States and Canada is what is needed by all the nations on earth.then we shall have an internationalism and economic unity for the benefit of all mankind," he said.

U.S. AND WORLD AFFAIRS

Doyle E. Carlton of Tampa, ex-governor of Florida, suggested the best way to avoid entanglements would be for the United States to take its proper place among the nations of the world and deal openly with modern problems. "Security is not found in isolation."We are living in a new world. The self-contained nation can no longer go on alone. This does not mean that any nation shall lose its character, integrity and nationality or become involved in international entanglements.
Unfortunately, while many of our statesmen have urged a policy of isolation, certain selfish financial interests have involved us in commercial and political entanglements which place jeopardy the faith, good name and fine purpose of our country."

New figures are now being prepared for consideration for the new Victoria-Saanich water contract, the city's water committee reported to the council yesterday afternoon. Two meetings have already been held in connection with this matter, and negotiations are also under way with Oak Bay, in order to having that municipality connect with the water meter at the corner of Leighton and Poul Bay Roads, the report said.

An inquiry into the municipal wood-cutting scheme, under which unemployed men were able to provide work for themselves by arrangement with the municipality, was suggested by members of the Central Ratepayers' Association at a meeting yesterday evening. It was also suggested that an injunction be taken against the municipality to have the work stopped pending investigation, but no action was taken in either case.

The Parkdale Sunday School held their picnic on Saturday at the Elk Lake picnic grounds. Two tallies were held at the school at 10 o'clock in the morning laden with a large number of children and many of their parents. Swimming was the main feature of the morning. The superintendent, Mr. Bracken, assisted by Mr. Clews and Mr. Stewart, managed the sports programme, which included races for all ages, a tug-off between the senior girls and boys, and a ball game. The picnic and candy scramble proved a great source of fun. The treasure hunt on the grounds kept the children busy. Later in the afternoon the cream was served. The return of the tallies at 7 o'clock brought to a close a most enjoyable day.

Berries Cheap For Preserving

Specialty Low Prices For Next Few Days as Shipments Stop Temporarily

For the next two or three days Victorians will be able to buy strawberries at the low price of $1.50 a crate. In giving the reason for this, Capt. E. L. Lavey, president of the North Saanich Fruitgrowers' Association, said the fact that next Saturday was a holiday with Sunday following and a "washday" Monday—always a poor time for marketing—had influenced the local growers not to ship any berries to the market for the next few days. Because of this, as well as the fact that the jam factories here are already glutted with strawberries, the consumers will be able to buy berries at "jam prices" for a while. Thus the present is an unusually favorable time to preserve strawberries for various purposes. That is the reason that island growers were now right in the middle of their crop, instead of nearing the end, as in former years.

FOOLED ONCE NEVER AGAIN

A. B. Sanders Tells C.C.F. He Voted For Premier Bennett in Last Election; Cured

"I think most people in Canada have changed their ideas about Premier Bennett in the last few years. I may say I voted for him at the last election, but never again. He is dubbed rightly by the Liberals as 'Lord Bennett of Blat'." He was going to blast his way to prosperity and employment. Has he done it?" asked A. B. Sanders, B.A., Oxon., before a crowded hall at the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation headquarters yesterday evening.

"The strongest criticism that has been made of Mr. Bennett has come from the advanced wing of the Conservatives in England, from men such as Mr. Churchill and Mr. Amery," continued Mr. Sanders. "At the last election Mr. Bennett was going to give us a new tariff which was to increase the local production of goods. Well, we had the tariff, but he never sold us that tariff. He was a cloak and fraud. Mr. Bennett and his friends nullified the whole thing by sticking in clauses which entitled them to clip on their own duties. He was a special dumping and excess reliever. We have the right to have our legislation done on the floor of the House of Commons and not in secret chambers."

Dealing with the difficulties the British and delegates from the other Dominions had with Premier Bennett, Mr. Sanders said he was going to declare that the Ottawa Conference understandings had not been kept by Mr. Bennett.

"I have never seen any more bitter or pungent criticism of any public man than what has appeared in the Conservative newspapers of Britain about Mr. Bennett," he said.

"Bennett doesn't understand co-operation. He has always been working for himself. His actions have been mere humbug with words, words and words. He is a man of no words."

Mr. Sanders referred to the Soviet cattle barter deal which was turned down by Ottawa and had resulted in the cattle orders being filled from the United States, to the disadvantage not only of the Canadian cattle producer, but also to the Canadian pulp and paper exporters. There was no special difference in the agreement proposed with Canada and that accepted by the United States.

NOTED SPEED RIDER IN CITY

Alec Bennett, Canadian Whose Record Was Beaten This Year, Returns Here

Cycling Again Rage in Britain; Manufacturers Behind in Production

One of the world's most famous motorcycle speed riders, Alec Bennett of Southampton, England, is in the city today. He held for a number of years the unbroken record for the Senior Tourist Trophy, holding it for five years, which record was this year beaten by Stanley Woods, Dublin toffee manufacturer, on the Isle of Wight course. Woods has not held the trophy 4½ years.

This classic motorcycle race annually attracts 100,000 people. The famous course is 27½ miles long, with seven laps, making a total distance of 266 miles.

Three trophies are competed for: The senior tourist trophy, the junior trophy and the lightweight trophy.

81 MILES AN HOUR

Woods, speeding his motorcycle over the mountainous Isle of Wight course, broke the record by averaging a speed of eighty-one miles per hour, taking the world's championship.

He rode a Norton machine, ridden from Canada by the United States, South Africa, France, Belgium, Italy and other European countries compete annually in the big race.

Alec Bennett is a Canadian, who before the war was connected with the motor industry in Vancouver. He remembers racing on the dirt track at the Willow Grove, Mr. Bennett joined the 121st Battalion and went overseas, later joining the Royal Flying Corps.

Following the termination of the war he married and remained in England, having built up a successful motor and motorcycle business at Southampton.

GOOD FISHING

He is back here with his wife for the first time since the war and is looking for a home. He returned here today from a trip to Campbell River, where he enjoyed some fine sport, getting thirty Rainbow trout.

The city cycling is again the rage in the United Kingdom, the revival starting there before it came to this country. The production of cycles is three weeks behind the demand, he says.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett plan to remain here for a few days before returning to Southampton.

The City Council yesterday afternoon set aside $100 for the Pioneer's Band of this city. The band will give eleven concerts in city parks during the summer months. Permission was also granted the City Council to hold a band in Beacon Hill Park on Sunday, July 16.

It started on the upper deck and burned a number of canvas deck chairs and slightly charred some of the woodwork before members of the deck crew extinguished the fire with their buckets. Passengers from the C.P.R. ship here went to Sidney early this morning and made repairs during the day. There was no confusion among the passengers when the fire was discovered. They stood back and watched the crew put it out.

MOTOR DRIVER GOES TO JAIL

Judge Confirms Police Court Sentence on Roy Robinson For Drunk Driving

His Licenses and Car Number Plates Removed Because of Four Mile Hill Affair

Roy Robinson at the conclusion of his retrial today before Judge Lampman was sentenced to the ten days in jail imposed upon him by Magistrate Jay on a charge of being intoxicated while in charge of a motor car, resulting in the recent wrecking of a U-Drive car at the foot of the Four Mile Hill.

Besides the ten-day jail sentence, the court confirmed the removal of Robinson's valid driver's licence by the magistrate and now the removal of his big licence by the provincial police and the taking away from him of his motor car licence plates. These were the plates he had on his own coupe which he did not use on the night of the accident, having left it at the U-Drive garage and taking out a larger car.

"The law should protect me from being killed by drunken drivers and the way to do this is to take away the licence for such drivers to get a licence," said the judge. "The judge declared there was no doubt Robinson was drunk. He also declared that some day somebody would drive right through the Four Mile Hill building at the curve of the Four Mile Hill and that if he owned the property he would build a strong stone wall six feet high to protect himself and property from motor drivers."

SEEK BIG SHARE IN PIONEER MINE

Prospectors and Heirs Extend Court Fight For Interest in Gold Property

Andrew Ferguson, pioneer prospector, died last week, leaving a large estate. His heirs, the Fergusons, are fighting a court battle for an interest in the Pioneer gold mine in the Bridge River district.

Named as defendants are Helen Wallbridge, David S. Wallbridge as executor and trustees of the estate of Adam H. Wallbridge, A. E. Bull, J. Duff Stuart, R. B. Boucher, Francis J. Nicholson and John S. Satter as liquidator of the Pioneer gold mines, the company which preceded the present Pioneer incorporation, which is styled as the Pioneer Gold Mines of B.C. J. A. MacInnes at noon today opened the case for the Fergusons, seeking a reversal of the judgment given last spring by Chief Justice Morrison dismissing the action. The Fergusons claim that they were unjustified in their claim against the late Mr. Wallbridge and that he was not "guilty of conspiracy or suppression in the purchase price, except $15,000, which the late Mr. Wallbridge accepted the evidence of David Sloan and Col. J. S. Yull that there was nothing to conceal. J. W. de B. Ferris, K.C., is appearing for the Wallbridges and the other defendants, except Mr. Satter, who is being represented by C. W. St. John. In his claim Mr. MacInnes explained that in January, 1921, Andrew Ferguson, who was then 214,500 shares of the total of 750,000 in the Pioneer. Out of this number at this date he agreed to sell 322,500 of the controlling interest in the Pioneer to the Fergusons. The defendants then took over the control on these terms. However, Mr. MacInnes claimed, they had failed to pay the purchase price, except $15,000, using the money on the mine. The company was placed in voluntary liquidation and in September, 1924, the assets were advertised for sale by Mr. Satter, who was subject to an option to David Sloan.

The Fergusons now seek a declaration that they own 214,500 shares in the old Pioneer company, thus giving them a claim for a proportionate interest in the present company which, under development, has a market value of some $30,000,000.

The appeal is continuing.

WAR MEMORIAL BEING ALTERED

Ottawa, June 27.—Canada's national war memorial is being altered in accordance with suggestions of Premier Bennett, it has been learned. The memorial, which stands in Hyde Park, London, for about a year, has been taken to the March Brothers Studio for changing. When completed the memorial will be brought to Ottawa, although a site has yet to be definitely selected.

There is a strong likelihood the government may abandon the idea of placing it where the present post office is because conditions are not ripe for tearing down the building and spending a million or two on a new post office.

time their journey so they will have the benefit of a full moon on the biggest stage, from New York to Bagdad.

While the eastern Canadian continent will be comparatively small, it will include most of the stars who have been along the front runners of major tournament play in Canada during recent years.

Ontario will be represented by such brilliant aces as Phil Farley, Toronto,

former Ontario amateur titleholder;

Jack Lewis, Brantford, holder of the Ontario crown in 1932; Jack Cameron,

Toronto, the "hard luck" player, who for years has been knocking at the door of the title achievement. This foursome will probably represent Ontario in the interprovincial match play for the Williamson Cup. Fifth member of the team is George Boeck,

Toronto.

Pressure of private business prevented the long-hitting Don Carlick

from making the trip to the Coast.

The Toronto star's great comeback carried him to victory in the Ontario

title chase last week.

Quebec is also sending a select team,

headed by the defending champion,

Gordon Taylor. He will be accompanied by Frank Corrigan, Ottawa, who captured the Quebec amateur tournament

two weeks ago. Edwin A. Innis, former amateur champion of Quebec, and

Carroll Stuart are the other members of the team.

The only overseas threat comes from China. H. H. C. Russell, a member of the Shanghai Golf Club, availing himself of his furlough to try his luck

against the Dominion's best.

WASHINGTON GAINS GAME

Are Two Full Games Up on New York Yankees in American League Chase

Whipped Cleveland 4 to 3 Yesterday; All National Fixtures Rained Out

Washington Senators increased their lead at the top of the American League yesterday with a 4 to 3 triumph over Cleveland Indians. The victory placed them two full games ahead of the idle New York Yankees and gave them their eighth successive victory.

Philadelphia's Athletics got away to an early lead against the Chicago White Sox and pounded out an 8 to 2 victory. Big Jim Peterson received credit for his first victory of the season.

With Dusty Rhodes keeping the St. Louis Browns' nine hits well scattered and pounding out four hits, including a pair of doubles, Boston Red Sox defeated St. Louis 13 to 5. Two of the Browns' hits were home runs by Campbell and Burns, while Hodapp connected with a circuit blow for the Sox.

The Yankees and Detroit Tigers failed to get into action when rain intervened while all of the games in the National League were rained out.

Cleveland, June 27.—Joe Cronin's rampaging Washington Senators continued their triumphant march through the week yesterday, turning in their third successive conquest of the Cleveland Indians. The score was 4 to 3.

The victory was the Senators' fifteenth triumph in their last sixteen starts and their eighth in succession—a new high mark for the season in the American League. It also increased Washington's lead to two full games over the Yankees, who were rained out at Detroit.

Washington 4 9 1
Cleveland 3 0 0

Batteries—Crowder, Russell and Sewell; Hildebrand, Hudlin and Myatt.

St. Louis, June 27.—Boston Red Sox pounded three pitchers for fifteen hits yesterday and won the third game of the series from St. Louis Browns, 13 to 5.

Batteries—Welch and Jernett; McDonald, Stiles, Herbert and Sheat.

Chicago, June 27.—Excellent relief pitching by Big Jim Peterson, plus a fourteen hit attack that routed Whitney Wyatt in less than two innings, gave Philadelphia Athletics an 8 to 2 victory over Chicago White Sox yesterday. It was the fifth win in six starts for the third-place Athletics, and the seventh defeat in their last eight games for Chicago.

Philadelphia 8 14 0

Wheat Continues To Soar; December Hits 85 Cent Mark To-day

Winnipeg, June 27 (Canadian Press).—Culminating another bullish up-beat, during which wheat futures prices rose to heights they had not reached for nearly three years, heavy profit-taking poured into the pit in final dealings of the Winnipeg Grain Market to-day, but values still were nearly five cents above the previous finish at their close.

Shooting six cents higher in a wild outburst of trading ten minutes before the final gong, futures closed 4 1/2 to 4 3/4 cents higher, July at 79 1/2, October 81 1/2, to 82, and December 85 1/2 to 85 3/4 cents.

As the December delivery tipped the 85-cent-a-bushel level, its high for the day, it reached a point last quoted on the Winnipeg board on October 4, 1930. And at to-day's closing prices futures have scored gains of approximately nine cents in two days.

The buying, as in yesterday's seething market, was almost entirely speculative. Chicago traders led the way to higher levels, as values surged upwards in their own market, and local speculators of every variety soon followed their lead.

Prices fluctuated erratically to-day as considerable profit-taking selling poured into the pit throughout the session. To-day's advances, at times spectacular, were not so well sustained in early trading as during yesterday's booming market and volume of transactions, while extremely heavy, did not approach yesterday's figures.

Futures again set new records for the past few years as they shot up nearly six cents in late dealings. As December option crossed the 81 cent-a-bushel line it touched a mark it had not reached since October 30, 1930.

Shall This Girl Take Chance of Marrying a Poor Second to Man's First Wife?—Can a Wife Care Her Husband of Garrulousness?

DEAR MISS DIX—I am twenty-eight years old and in love with a widower of forty-two. He has three children—a daughter, fourteen; son, twelve; and a little boy, four. This man frankly tells me that while he is very fond of me he could never give me the same deep and tender love he did his wife, also that I would come second to his children in his life; that he would marry primarily to give them ideal home surroundings. He feels it would be unfair to ask me to accept the role of almost platonic wife when I am young enough to love deeply and to expect to be all-in-all to my husband. He says he has seen too many lives wrecked by second marriages where all memory of the first wife and mother was obliterated; her name never spoken; her pictures hidden away from her children, and that this attitude of the second wife resulted in hidden resentments which are not sane and rational. So he wants the memory of his children's mother to be happy and lovingly fostered.

UNDECIDED.

Now I love this man. He is fine and upright and could give me a good home, security and affection. Is it too much of a risk to marry him?

Answer: Your decision should depend upon your knowledge of yourself and how much common sense you have and how little jealousy.

If you are of a jealous temperament do not marry the man, for a wife can get even more green-eyed over a poor dead body in the cemetery than she can over a flapper in her husband's office. And that's plenty, believe me. Nor can one blame her when one contemplates the idiocy of men who are forever throwing their first wife in their second wife's teeth, so to speak, and presenting ludicrous comparisons between them. Telling what a marvelous cook Mary was and how she could run a house on air and never thought of buying but one dress a year, and never belonged to clubs or wasted her time on bridge and so on and on.

Blessings brighten as they fade, particularly in wives, and many a man conjures up a posthumous passion for his wife after she is gone that he never felt when she was with him in life. If every widower had been really as romantically devoted to his wife as he thinks he is, consoling one wouldn't be the easiest job a woman ever tackles.

So that's that, but all the same the woman who sits down to the second table in a man's heart doesn't relish being reminded that all he can give her to feed her hungry soul on is warmed-over affection and rehearsed sentiment.

So consider that aspect of the problem, but also bear this in mind, that in reality your husband's first wife is the least dangerous rival you can possibly have, and that a cold, pale, shadowy ghost can easily be routed by a live, warm woman. Your husband may still think he is faithful to his wife, but he will forget her in the love and cheer and happiness that you will bring into his life.

Just bring your common sense to bear on the proposition—that it doesn't really matter who was first in a man's life, the important thing is to be one who possesses him at the present moment. And remember that we are only afraid of our skeleton closet when we keep the door shut. When we fling it wide open we see that there is nothing in it but a few harmless old bones. So don't make your husband's first wife a taboo subject. Talk about her. Sing her praises. Tell the children what a grand mother they had and you take all the kick out of secret heroine worship.

As for the children, they will soon be gone. Ten years at most and they will have flown the home nest. In the meantime, considering their father's attitude, do not assume the role of mother to them, but of a big sister. Leave all of the controlling and disciplining of them to their father and devote yourself to winning their friendship and making them feel that you understand and sympathize with them and are doing your best to make life pleasant for them. Use tact in handling the youngsters. Every man who marries a second time is so grateful to his wife for not quarreling with his children that he adores her.

A widower is a mighty good bet as a husband, even if he does think his heart is permanently cracked. You can start the good work of mending it, and baby hands will finish it.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My husband is the best man in the world. I adore him and for me he has no faults. He just suits me. But he has one characteristic that has driven every one away from us and that forces us to live almost by ourselves. He is an incessant talker. He talks fluently and interestingly and with enthusiasm. He never lets anybody get a word in even edgewise. People call once. They ask us to dinner once. But never again. I do not want to hurt my husband's feelings, so I can't tell him that he talks too much. What can I do about it?

Answer: Nothing, I am afraid, because when people are enamored of the sound of their own voices they are obsessed by a passion from which they are never weaned; nothing but death stops them.

Apparently the idea that they are supreme bores of the universe never enters their mind, nor do they consider that other people may not be vitally interested in hearing every detail of their private lives and knowing just how many miles they make on a gallon of gas or the cute thing their baby did or their opinion on the political situation. Nor do they recognize that conversation to be interesting must be a give-and-take proposition and one in which mutual rights are respected, and each individual should have his innings.

In reality, there are few things so wearisome as having to listen to a monologist, no matter how brilliant and entertaining he may be, and nobody's idea of a pleasant evening is sitting up in dumb silence listening to some one tell of his exploits or travels or relate stories. We want to chime in with the tale of our own adventures and tell our own jokes.

Nothing renders one so unpopular as to get the reputation of being a big talker. People avoid one as they would the plague. They dodge even meeting him on the streets because they know the endless talker will hold them up until they are ready to drop with exhaustion. They never ask him to dinner because they know that the talker will monopolize the conversation and the party will be ruined. They never want to have anything to do with him in business because he wastes too much time in talk.

But there is no cure for the talkers, because they imagine everybody is just hanging on their words.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—A young man having just graduated from a medical school wonders as to the relative advantages and disadvantages of immediately marrying. Would it be to his advantage to remain single or get married? How would his position in social life as well as his economic state be affected?

DOCTOR.

Answer: Unless the young doctor has money of his own or is marrying a girl with money it would certainly be foolhardy for him to get married just as soon as he graduates from a medical school. It generally takes several years for a young doctor to make enough to live on, and he would certainly stand a fine chance of starving or having to give up his profession in order to support his family. If he rushed into a precipitate marriage, besides, a young unmarried doctor is a romantic and attractive figure to women and he will be invited out more and have better chances of making social contacts than he would if he were married. So a young doctor is wise to wait until he is established before he takes a wife.

California Liner To Take Full List

Many Passengers to Board Ss. H. F. Alexander at Victoria This Evening

Will Take Parcel of Raw Silk Left Here Yesterday By Ms. Tantalua From Orient

Approximately 500 passengers will board the Ss. H. F. Alexander of the Pacific Steamship Lines when she sails from the Rithet piers this evening at 10 o'clock for San Francisco and Los Angeles, with Capt. C. G. Hansen in command. Coastwise travel between California ports is particularly heavy now and all steamers operating in this route have full passenger lists booked for them from now until the end of the season. The H.F. brought 500 travelers to Seattle from California yesterday morning.

A large group of passengers will embark here, including many who arrived from Vancouver this afternoon by the Ss. Princess Margaret. The H.F. sailed from Seattle at 4 o'clock this afternoon and was expected here at 8 o'clock this evening. She will remain in port until 10 o'clock, when she will be ready to receive the first lines of the Norfolk crew. The ship is a 2,000-ton vessel, built in 1921, both at Glasgow. They are 5,920 tons, 460 feet in length and fifty-three feet in breadth, and 5,818 tons, 420 feet in length and fifty-four feet in breadth.

After taking half her capacity of grain here, the British freighter Braden cleared the Ogden Point piers this morning at 11:30 o'clock, and proceeded to Vancouver. She took 4,000 tons from the local elevator, and will load about the same amount in Vancouver for some European destination, as yet unannounced.

OCEAN FLIERS ARE HONORED

Tablet Unveiled in Germany, Commemorating Von Huenefeld and Floyd Bennett

A bronze tablet commemorating the flight of the late Baron Gunther von Huenefeld, who together with Capt. Hermann Koehl and Major James C. Fitzmaurice, made the first east to west flight across the Atlantic in 1926, and Floyd Bennett, the United States aviator, who died of pneumonia as a result of his heroic effort to succeed the fliers when they were forced down on Greenland Island, was unveiled June 20 in Bremen.

The tablet, a gift of the North German Lloyd, was dedicated by Federal Governor Karl Roever representing Capt. Herman Wilhelm Goering, Reich Minister of Aviation and Minister of Prussia, in the presence of the Senate of Bremen, Capt. Koehl, Mrs. Koehl, relatives and friends of the deceased flier, Hermann Koehl, who died in 1929, North German Lloyd officials and a large assembly of the citizens of Bremen.

The market place, where the City Hall is situated, was bedecked with German, United States, Irish and English flags. An address was made by Herr Markert, the president of the Bremen Senate.

Capt. Koehl in his speech, also paid tribute to the self-sacrificing sportsmanship of Floyd Bennett, and Director Standisender, of the North German Lloyd, referred to Baron von Huenefeld's gallant characteristics.

Inscribed on the memorial tablet is a brief account of Floyd Bennett's flight from Detroit to Murray Bay, Canada. The German Ambassador in Washington, Dr. Hans Luther, last week placed a wreath on Floyd Bennett's grave in Arlington Cemetery. The mono-plane, Bremen, in which the flight was made is now in a museum in New York City.

SERVICE FORTY YACHTS HERE FROM SEATTLE

Heralding the approach of the summer cruising season along the British Columbia coast, several yachts from Seattle and Vancouver were anchored in the inner harbor basin this morning. A large number of yachts from the Puget Sound clubs are expected here during the week-end on their way to the Pacific International Yachting Association regatta at Vancouver next week.

Yachts in the harbor this morning included the Waltham, I. of Vancouver, the Robert G. Seymour of Seattle, the Begum of Vancouver and the El Mira of Seattle. The latter is a trim, black-hulled sailing vessel, with auxiliary power.

The Tye Scout of Seattle was also tied up in the harbor to-day, embarking a party of Seattle Boy Scouts who have been visiting Victoria.

Believing there is no better place in which to spend the summer months than Cadboro Bay and Saanich Arm, P. D. Seymour of Seattle comes over here every season in his power yacht, Emmeline, which is to-day at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club moorings. Also at Cadboro Bay to-day is the Blue Water of Seattle.
